TAX RATE LOWER THAN LAST YEAR

But Improvements to Be Taxed on 50 Per Cent of Value Instead of 33 1-3, Council Decides by 5-4 Vote

EXPECTED TO CUT DOWN REVERSIONS

Alderman Marchant Warns That Higher Levy on Improvements Will Drive People Out of City

THE city's tax rate this year will be 39.4 mills, as compared with 39.72 mills last year, and improvements will be taxed on 50 per cent of their assessed value.

These important points were settled last night by the City Council, which will meet again this evening to put the rate by-law through its final stage.

Last year improvements were taxed on 33 1-3 per cent of their assessed value, and the move to increase this proportion to 50 per cent met with vigorous opposition last night, which, however, was insufficient, and the change was sustained by a vote of 5-4, with Ald. Woodward absent. His presence, however, would not have affected the vote, as Mayor Hayward, who did not vote, would have supported the increase.

Last night's decision will mean that the tax on land will be lower than last year, but the amount to be paid on improvements will be higher. Ald. Sargent pointed out that while last year the owner of a lot assessed at $750 and a house valued at $1,500 paid $54 in taxes, this year he would have to pay $59.10.

The amount to be levied for over the whole city this year is $1,726,521, as compared with $1,751,884 in 1923.

The vote on the increasing of the proportion of the improvements to be taxed was as follows: For, Aldermen Todd, Christie, Ker, Sangstar and Sargent; against, Aldermen Marchant, Dewar, Andros and Harvey.

Opens Attack

Ald. Marchant made a lengthy attack upon the proposal to increase the percentage. He believed that if the electorate was given another chance it would vote against the taxation of improvements. He pointed out that Saanich and Esquimalt did not tax improvements.

"Every time you increase the tax on improvements," declared the alderman, "you say to newcomers 'Do

POINCARE PASSES REPARATIONS ON

PREMIER LEAVES ALL NEGOTIATIONS TO SUCCESSOR

Meeting With British Premier, Which Was Arranged, Has Now Been Cancelled

PARIS, May 13.—The resignation of Premier Poincare's cabinet, announced for June 1, effective June 4, passes the application of the experts' reparation plan, so far as France is concerned, to the succeeding government, along with all other problems involved in questions of policy. The carefully prepared economies which the Premier was authorized to make by the decree of the preceding Chamber will be held in abeyance, because the opposition won the elections on the promise to the electors to repeal the law.

The resignation of the Premier and his colleagues was decided upon at once on learning the outcome of the elections.

The meeting between M. Poincare and the British Premier will not take place. It is understood that Count de St. Aulaire, the French Ambassador in London, has been instructed to inform the British Premier that under the circumstances M. Poincare would prefer to leave the negotiations concerning reparations and the security of France in the hands of his successor.

The choice of the head of the new cabinet will involve certain difficulties by reason of the necessity of taking into account the internal political situation and important diplomatic negotiations in view.

It is generally admitted that former Premier Aristide Briand can have the post if he will accept. He, however, sets forth the plea that he is getting old and is beginning to feel the necessity of more repose than the responsibilities of the premiership would allow. There is a growing impression that the first cabinet will find trouble in making its way with the new majority.

The names most frequently mentioned, in addition to M. Briand, for the new cabinet are Edouard Herriot and Robert de Jouvenel, among the Radicals; ex-Premier Painleve and ex-Minister of Public Works Violisite, of the Republican Socialists; Paul Boncour, former Minister of Labor, and Leon Blum, of the Socialist party.

REGINA, Sask., May 13.—No reduction of the wheat acreage in Saskatchewan is indicated in a crop report issued today by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company.

LABOR WINS ON CENSURE VOTE

Ex-Premier Baldwin's Motion to Retain McKenna Duties Defeated in British House of Commons

DEBATE CENTRES ABOUT AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY

Labor Member for Coventry Spoke Against Repeal, But Abstained From Voting When Test Came

LONDON, May 13.—The Labor Government again came out victorious in the House of Commons tonight, when the Conservative motion, moved by former Premier Stanley Baldwin for retention of the McKenna duties, which Premier MacDonald had accepted as a motion of censure, was rejected by at vote of 317 to 252.

The debate on the motion was almost exclusively devoted to the automobile industry and the effect the removal of the duties would have on unemployment in that field. On the whole, the proceedings were devoid of excitement, and great stretches of benches were empty for several hours.

In the end, the vote was taken on party lines, the Conservatives hotly supporting the duties, and the Liberals linking forces with Labor to abolish them. There were 252 votes against the Government measure, just five less than the number of Conservatives in the House.

Coventry Member Faltered

Only nine Liberals voted with the Conservatives, and not a Laborite voted against the Government. Albert Purcell, Laborite from Coventry the centre of Great Britain's automobile industry, who had made speeches against the repeal of the duties as the self-styled spokesman for the workers of his constituency, abstained from voting.

Mr. Baldwin, launching an attack upon the proposal of Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that the repeal of the McKenna duties was one of the most stupid things ever attempted in this country. He compared it to shoving a swimmer back into the water after, by a hard struggle to save himself from drowning, he had just succeeded in getting his feet on the bank. He was certain that it was going to aggravate unemployment, put more men on the dole, and encourage American dumping.

Blow at Canadian Trade

"Goods may come in cheaper," he said, "but no one sends in goods cheaply for the good of his health. The moment English production fails, the cost goes up. I fear the only result in twelve months time will be that you have more unemployed, and also that you will be paying more for your motor cars. In addition to that you will have dealt a blow at Canadian trade."

Mr. Baldwin pointed out that Canada had been benefited by the preference given her under the duties. There had been increased production of Canadian cars, largely aided by United States capital put in the country to get the benefit of the preference. The advantage of that was the tendency to populate one of the largest of the Dominions and give opportunity to British workmen, who wanted to emigrate to the Dominion instead of going abroad.

Ill Omen for Future

There was nothing so full of ill omen for the future as that the stream of Britain's skilled men should go to the United States, where, in the

ALL MUST IGNORE DETAILS AT START

Premier MacDonald Emphasizes Need of United Effort on Part of Leading Nation to Get Experts' Report Under Way Without Delay to Discuss Component Parts at Length and All Must Act on Finding as a Whole

LONLON, May 13.—Prime Minister MacDonald, reviewing the political situation in an address before a women's demonstration under the auspices of the Labor party, at Albert Hall, said: "Our greatest problem at this moment is getting the experts' reports into operation. If we were to begin to examine every line, every paragraph and every proposal in the reports, when would we end? I still claim that what the Labor Government did within twenty-four hours after finishing a study of the report, namely, taking the initiative in announcing to the world that the report should be put into operation en bloc, was the right thing to do, and if that course is pursued Europe will have a chance of finding its feet.

"Germany, France, ourselves, Italy, Belgium—none of us can afford to go into details now. It's all together—the whole report and nothing but the report. If in working it out we find an impossibility, then, by the common sense still remaining to us, we shall be able to adjust conditions.

Take Whole Report

"And I beg of every nation concerned to follow the line we have taken, to take the whole report, to put it heartily into operation, and to do its level best to carry out the obligations imposed by it, and then to trust to the sense of justice of the world to see that right is done in the end.

"In this great policy of reconstruction one or two nations are not enough. France, Italy, Belgium and ourselves are not enough. Russia is not enough. My heart is with the small nations of Europe. I am a nationalist, convinced and unbending. I respect national traditions and national characteristics. I hold that it will be a very bad day for the world if the diversities of humanity created by so many experiences of race, creed or clime become sandpapered into one feature. That is not my ideal; nor is it my ideal that you should run nationalism so hard that it becomes a pest to anyone trying to make peace.

Not Aggression

"Nationalism is not aggression. Nationalism is self-respect, and those who respect themselves best of all are the very best people to others. Therefore, the foreign policy of the Labor Government appeals not only to the large powers, but to the small powers, such as Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia. We want them all. Without them a great peace union of Europe will be incomplete, and until it is complete the Labor Government can never be satisfied that its foreign policy has been a success. Nobody knows better than the small nations that a military policy does not pay.

Failure Would Be Disastrous

"Some critics say, 'Why don't you call an international conferance at once?' Why? Because you can call an international conference at a time when it cannot succeed, and failure would be disastrous.

"We are preparing the way. As soon as we get the pressing problems of Central Europe out of the way—I am making no promises; I am only expressing a hope."

Dominion Loses One of Its Greatest Electric Engineers

OTTAWA, May 13.—The Dominion lost one of its most expert electrical authorities in the death here tonight at 11:55 o'clock of Warren Young Soper, president of Ahern & Soper, Ltd., electrical engineers and contractors.

SUGGESTS BODY OF LOCAL MINISTERS

SIR ROBERT BORDEN WOULD BRING EMPIRE CLOSER

No Longer Should Mother Country Have Trusteeship of External Affairs, He Says

LONDON, Ont., May 13.—Sir Robert Borden would bring the whole of the British Empire into closer cooperation by a system of resident ministers in the British Isles to voice the opinion of the Dominions on the external affairs of the Empire. Such was the suggestion brought forward by him when he addressed the Women's Canadian Club here today.

"One great difficulty in the way of greater unity in the Empire in the past has been the fact that the Mother Country has held a sort of trusteeship in the administration of external affairs," he said. "But now that the Dominions have begun to have a voice in external affairs, we must try to find out a means by which each of these separate parts may express their desire in the matter of external affairs.

"The Imperial conferences which have been called from time to time have attended to this as best they could, but I believe that there might be a still more satisfactory solution of these problems, and I might suggest a system of resident ministers."

VANCOUVER, May 13.—The resignation of Sheriff Charles E. Macdonald as deputy marshal for Vancouver county was announced today. Edgar W. Gaze, a bailiff, recently from Calgary, has been appointed to the vacancy.

Says Party Defeat Is Preferable to Ruin

Liberal Member for Sherbrooke Makes Declaration in Opposition to Budget and Bemoans "Loss of Permanent Tariff"—Young Lochinvar Out of the West, Conservative From West Elgin, Thinks Depositors of Home Bank Should Be Reimbursed for Loss

OTTAWA, May 13.—Another Liberal—F. N. McCrea, of Sherbrooke—today declared his opposition to the budget. He compared the present situation with that of the children of Israel, called to make bricks without straw, for in Mr. McCrea's opinion the budget was going to take away protection from industry, while at the same time increasing the burdens. He spoke of Mr. Fielding's statement of last year "that we might consider the tariff as permanent or as lasting for some time with some slight changes," and then of "this thing of gerrymandering it as has been done this year." The worst thing that could happen the Government, added Mr. McCrea, would be its defeat on the budget, but that would be very much better than to ruin the country.

Condemns International Labor

Mr. McCrae urged a revision of railway wages and renewed attacks he had made before on international unions and civil service hours. "International labor," he declared, "will be pretty nearly the death knell of this country if we keep on."

Dr. Preston, Conservative, North Lanark, described the present administration as "the most profligate, extravagant government in the English-speaking world," and L. Bancroft, Progressive, Selkirk, intimated that his vote on the budget would depend on the assurance by the Government that there would be no further suspension of the 5 per cent saving paragraph in the dumping clause.

W. F. Maclean, of South York, raised a laugh in the evening by referring to Robert Forke as a "young Lochinvar who had come out of the West and carried away the Prime Minister."

H. C. McKillop, Conservative, West Elgin, thought the Home Bank depositors should be reimbursed, advocated a tariff higher than that of the United States and prohibition of the export of pulp wood.

PROHIBITION NOT CHRISTIAN WAY

BISHOP WILLIAMS, OF LONDON, SAYS PLAN INCONSISTENT

Anglican Church in Dominion Can Only Be Bound in Matter of Union by Canadians

LONDON, Ont., May 13.—"Prohibition is inconsistent with the teaching of Christ, with the divine plan in the moral evolution of the race, and with the Christian way of life, which demands self-denial, but never its imposition by force upon others." So declared Rt. Rev. David Williams, Bishop of Huron, in discussing the Ontario Temperance Act in the course of his annual charge before the synod of Huron, here today. Opposition to prohibition, therefore, he said, was not opposition to Christ.

Reviewing the results of the O.T.A. he said the abolition of the bar and saloon was an undoubted gain which must never be lost. "On the other hand, because the law lacks the moral support of large numbers of people its enforcement like all sumptuary laws is nearly impossible, and provokes resentment," said Bishop Williams.

"The regulations regarding the medical use of liquor are recommended and the high price of liquor has been the chief incentive to bootlegging."

Reunion With Rome

The question of reunion between Anglican and Roman Catholics was next reviewed.

"Nothing of the kind can be binding on the Anglican Church in Canada, till it has been adopted by our own general synod, the provincial and the diocesan synods, as we are not subject to any jurisdiction outside Canada," the Bishop said. "Let nobody fear, therefore, that anything can be done by a small partisan group at Malines, which can be binding upon us in Canada," he concluded.

Ran Amok With Steel Crowbar

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—Chris Kuveles, thirty-one, ran amok with a heavy steel crowbar on a busy downtown street late today, and before he could be overpowered had fractured the skull of Mrs. Cecelia Vassler, sixty-five, according to the police, and inflicted minor injuries on two other women and an aged man. He was taken to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital. Mrs. Vassler may die.

DISCUSS STATUS OF REV. CLEM DAVIES

CONFERENCE TO DEAL WITH SUBJECT THIS WEEK

Stationing Committee's Draft Expected Tomorrow Will Introduce the Question

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Methodist ministers and lay delegates from all parts of British Columbia are gathering in the city for the thirty-eighth session of the annual conference, which will open on Thursday, May 15, at 9:30 a.m., with roll call and election of officers.

On Wednesday there will be a separate division of ministerial and lay delegates, and Wednesday evening there will be a public meeting under the auspices of the lay association, when Rev. J. E. Crowther, D.D., of University Methodist Church, Seattle, will give an address on "Heroes of Heresy."

The stationing committee, which settles the question of the pastorates for the coming year, met at 10 a.m. Monday, and will present the first draft of stations at the close of the first session Thursday.

One question of public interest to be decided will be the relationship of Centennial Church, where Dr. Clem Davies has been allowed to supply for the past year.

Rev. W. J. Sipprell is chairman of the Victoria district on the committee, and with him is associated Rev. J. F. Dimmick.

FLOATING DEBRIS CHOKES POTOMAC

Swollen Waters of River Covered With Wreckage Caused by Floods in Upper Reaches, Waters Having Reached a Higher Level Than Any Year Since 1889, and Are Still Rising—Ten Bridges Washed Away

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The swollen waters of the Potomac River here today were covered with floating debris from wreckage caused by floods in its upper reaches. Water was unusually high in the vicinity of Washington, flooding many small houses along the river banks and carrying away small pleasure craft.

The waters here are highest since 1889 and are still rising. Virtually every Summer camp along the Georgetown and Virginia Palisades have been inundated and the lower floors of boat clubs have been flooded.

Reports from towns in Maryland and West Virginia along the Potomac told of serious flood conditions. Ten bridges were reported washed away with others rapidly becoming unsafe.

Traffic along the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad west of Point of Rocks, Md., was stopped when the tunnel there became flooded. The Norfolk & Western and the Southern Railroads have cancelled all train service over their main lines in the Shenandoah valley.

At Chain Bridge five miles from the centre of Washington the river has risen 31 feet above normal. Islands in the river were entirely covered with houses inundated to the second floor.

Brewers Get Big Sum By New Price Deal With Government

New Arrangement Retroactive as From March 1 Last Increases Price of Beer $1.50 a Barrel—Will Reduce Liquor Profits by Quarter Million Dollars a Year, According to Unofficial Estimate

ATTORNEY-GENERAL MANSON DENIES POLITICAL MOTIVE

BY an agreement recently arrived at between the brewers of the Province and the government, and made retroactive as from March 1 last, the brewers will be paid one and a half dollars per barrel more for beer than they have been getting.

While the price of beer to the consumer is not to be increased, the arrangement, it is unofficially estimated, will cost the people of the Province $250,000 a year in decreased liquor profits, at the present rate of beer consumption.

Attorney-General Manson, who is responsible for the arrangement, admitted yesterday that the increase had been given, but in a written statement denied that the arrangement with the brewers was made in view of the coming general election.

"It is difficult to prevent sinister rumors," said Mr. Manson, when a representative of The Colonist put the whole story straight up to him, "but the election had nothing whatever to do with this."

"The inference is," Mr. Manson was told, "that the price of this arrangement is political support, moral or material, for the Government in the coming election."

The Attorney-General refused to discuss this phase of the matter, and again persisted that the arrangement, which, he said, was the sequel to long and difficult negotiations with the brewers, was made absolutely without reference to the election.

Will Cut Revenue

The main facts as stated were not controverted by the Attorney-General. They are: That the arrangement was recently completed; that it was made since it was generally known that there would be a general election; that it was made retroactive as from March 1; that it will seriously decrease the revenue of the Government from the operation of the Liquor Act.

Premier Oliver, who showed himself considerably disturbed when The Colonist informed him that it was in possession of this story, said that the Government must face whatever construction might be put upon the facts. The premier, while refusing generally to discuss the matter, intimated that certain particulars of the agreement, as put to him by The Colonist, were previously unknown to him.

Both Premier Oliver and Attorney-

SEEK MEANS TO AID FARMING INDUSTRY

Various Interests Meet in Economic Conference in Saskatchewan to Solve Farmers' Troubles

REGINA, May 13.—A pledge that the creditor classes they represent would be willing to confer with the Government and farmers' organizations, with a view to the establishment of a central collection agency to co-operate with the debt adjustment bureau in reducing costs of collections, was secured by Premier Dunning from J. A. Graham, representing the implement firms, and G. Garfield Wray, of the Retail Merchants' Association, at the opening session of the Saskatchewan economic conference today.

The wholesalers, retailers, bankers, mortgage and loan corporations, transportation companies, farmers' organizations, women's organizations, the press and Labor were represented at the conference, which was called by George F. Edwards, president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, in the hope that the various interests would be able to get together and devise some means of ameliorating agricultural economic conditions in the province.

RAILROAD UNION MAY RENEW STRIKE

BRITISH EMPLOYEES SAY TERMS NOT LIVED UP TO

Immediate Meeting Demanded With Directors of Companies as Only Means of Agreement

LONDON, May 13.—Another strike on the railroads in this country is threatened by reason of dissatisfaction on the part of the leaders of the railwaymen's union in connection with the final arrangement of the details of the settlement of the recent strike.

The Amalgamated Society of Engineers, which was responsible for the last strike, alleges that many details of the settlement have not been put into operation by the railway companies, and states that the men are becoming restive in consequence.

A strongly-worded note has been sent to the companies demanding an immediate meeting between the engineemen's representatives and the directors of the railways. The note asserts that if the meeting is refused there will be no possibility of avoiding another strike.

DEMANDS ON POLAND FROM ALL QUARTERS

Russia and Germany Each Want Different Treatment for Foreign Residents of Country

WARSAW, May 13.—The Polish Government received today a note from Soviet Russia demanding better treatment of the Ukrainians and white Ruthenians in Polish territory. The note quotes article VII of the Treaty of Riga between the two countries providing for the satisfactory settlement of the question of minorities on both sides.

The note is interpreted here as inspired by a desire to expand the sphere of Soviet influence on the Polish borderland—a desire already given expression by the Soviet general executive committee.

Poland has also received a German note demanding better treatment for the Germans in Polish Upper Silesia. In view of the present Russo-German imbroglio the coincedance is considered accidental.

On Two Year Trip

QUEBEC, May 13.—Intending to go around America in an automobile, J. H. Choquinard, of Montmagny, left yesterday for New Brunswick, whence he will proceed to Maine and the New England States. He is accompanied by his wife and four children. The journey is expected to last about two years. Choquinard has [illegible] his automobile so that it now is fitted out with a kitchen, a parlor and a dormitory.

Former Member of Local House and Well-Known Pioneer, Passes Away at Fort Steele

FERNIE, B.C., May 13.—R. L. T. Galbraith, after a long illness, is dead at the family residence, Fort Steele, at the age of 83 years. Mr. Galbraith was one of the early settlers of Southeast Kootenay, arriving during the gold rush on Wild Horse Creek about 1864, and with his brother opened a trading post in what is now Fort Steele, at that time known as Galbraith's Ferry. He was also interested in the Cassiar country in the early '70's in partnership with ex-Mayor John Grant, of Victoria, under the firm name of Galbraith, Grant & Cook.

He was one of the first representatves from the Kootenay section to the legislative assembly and subsequently held various public offices.

CHURCH UNION CAUSES ENMITY

Bitterness Marks Discussion in House of Commons—Threats Resented by Members and Prevent Action

MR. MARLER FAILS TO SATISFY IN APOLOGY

Passing of Sir Louis Davies Is Mourned — Joy Ride to "Bootleggers' Wharf" Proposed for Progressives

(Special to The Colonist)

OTTAWA, May 10.—H. H. Marler in his attack on the Government destroyed its effectiveness by his continued apologies for doing his duty. After declaring that the Acting Finance Minister had deceived the public with a misleading financial statement, that the Prime Minister had betrayed his supporters, and that the Government's fiscal policy was nationally ruinous, he could still see virtue on the Government's benches. He started boldly, but as the atmosphere surrounding him on the Government benches grew chilly, Mr. Marler reflected it, and timidity and apology replaced courageous exposition and definition. In attempting to soften the indictment in his manuscript, he ruined his speech, earned the ill-will of his colleagues, and without creating much admiration among his opponents. It is unfortunate that Mr. Marler should have apologized for doing his duty, as he has considerable ability, great industry and ambition. Lack of courage is a serious handicap in public life, and Mr. Marler has yet to show that he has not such a handicap to his political advancement.

It was fitting that A. R. McMaster should reply to Mr. Marler. He bolted last year, but always kept the door open to return to the Liberal fold, while Mr. Marler bolted this year with a most humble apology for doing so. Mr. McMaster has wearied parliament. In his youth he read Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations," and since then he has tried to convince everybody that free trade is a sure cure-all for everything from a broken leg to a broken bank. Mr. McMaster has been seven years in parliament, and at least five times every session has advanced this theory at length and without change. In his speeches he recognizes no change in conditions since the Scotch economist advocated free trade, and he applies to Canada, without regard to our situation, resources or population, these same theories written for Britain and British conditions in the long-distant past. His speech was noteworthy in one respect as indicating the trend of the industrial wrecker in accepting the Government's tariff reductions as but an installment of the programme that will make of this country an exporter of raw material and an importer of finished products. Premier King, by his trading Liberal principles for power, has placed himself where every year he will be a victim of political blackmail by Canada's anti-industrialists.

Church Union Starts It

Church union has brought disunion and bitterness, if the relations as displayed here between the unionists and anti-unionists prevail throughout the country. It is plainly apparent that the Presbyterian Church has been rent in twain, and the ill-feeling engendered will remain for a generation at least. Threats of advocates of union and dissenters from the merger have been very injudicious and are resented by members of parliament. The cause of union has been done untold harm by these threats. In parliament the general feeling, which may not be expressed in the vote, but which exists, is that there should be no coercion of a substantial majority of any church, and when there is a doubt whether the dissenting Presbyterians are a majority or a minority, the members are anxious that no precedent be created that may endanger minority rights in any issue, sectarian or otherwise. In the beginning of the discussion there was a strong feeling among the Roman Catholic members of the commmittee —and they number one-third of the membership—that they should abstain from action in this Protestant Church squabble, but fuller consideration has shown that they cannot do so and do their duty as representatives. If they created such a precedent it would mean that any sectarian legislation would be judged solely by the members of parliament of the interested sect and parliament would be delegating its authority to groups. In general, the sympathy of parliament is with the Presbyterians seeking to retain their church, and it would not be surprising if another Presbyterian plebiscite was demanded, or that congregations must vote themselves into union, not to be taken in as a body, then escape if possible.

Played Big Part

The passing of Sir Louis Davies removes one of the last who played a prominent part in the political life of Canada from Confederation down to recent times. He was a stalwart Liberal, friend of Laurier, opponent of Macdonald, but in all the various phases of political life in which he was interested he always stood for a strong British-Canadian nationalism. After leaving parliament for the bench, his political activities ceased, and he completely divested himself of partisanship. While he may not rank as one of our great jurists, he will always be remembered as a judge of honor, capacity and integrity. His logical successor in the Chief Justiceship is Mr. Justice Duff, who is eminently qualified by experience, capacity and national service, but, although a Liberal appointee, he will not receive further recognition. His sterling war service has put him beyond the pale with Hon. Ernest Lapointe and Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. It is possible that Mr. Justice Anglin will be promoted, and his position on the bench filled from the Maritime Provinces. Chief Justice McKeown, now presiding over the Home Bank inquiry, has always been ambitious to secure a place on our Supreme Court. It is unfortunate that at the present time he should be presiding over a political commission. The Government wishes to "get" Sir Thomas White and protect Hon. T. A. Crerar, and if Mr. Justice McKeown does not show partisanship enough to satisfy Premier King, then he will fail to accomplish his ambition, as under the present administration ability and probity are subordinated to political expediency.

It is proposed to give a large party of Progressive members a joyride to North Essex to view the site of the "bootleggers'" wharf which the Government was pledged to build if North Essex returned Tim Healey to parliament. There is no doubt if this pleasant jaunt is given the Progressives they will vote for this "pork barrel" appropriation. It is now a recognized principle here that the Progressives, if well fed and entertained, will show appreciation in parliament. Probably there never was in our history a more unjustifiable expenditure than this appropriation of $30,000 at Belle River, and which will cost, when completed, $80,000. There is no business at present or in prospect to justify such expenditure, but give the Progressive Party a free trip and sumptuous meals and they will vote for it. Just as they are voting for "pork barrel" railway branch lines in Eastern Canada. If they don't vote, it is safe that enough of them will slide out of the chamber to secure the passage of the item and the preservation of the Government and their sessional indemnities.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package. (Advt.)

LOGGERS DECIDE TO CLOSE ALL CAMPS

Market Conditions Will Probably Result in Total Cessation of Work by May 25

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Members of the British Columbia Loggers' Association took no action yesterday on the question of closing down all camps, but a number of the camps are already closed down and others are planning to close this week, it was stated.

It was estimated by members of the association yesterday that by May 25 every camp in the Province will be closed down if conditions do not improve in the lumber industry soon.

Eight tugs came into port yesterday with logs from the different camps, many cleaning out before closing down, and getting their logs out of fire range. These tugs brought an aggregate of 156 swifters of logs.

Osculatory Experiments Causes Downfalls, Says Judge of Juvenile Court

MONTREAL, May 13.—Seeing the long kiss in the movies has been the first step downwards with young girls, according to Judge Lacroix, of the juvenile court. He thinks it should be banished from the pictures. Not a few of the young girls who appear before him have told him, he says, that it was the desire to experiment and see what this kiss was like that led to their downfall.

Jury Exonerates Man Who Gave Fatal Punch

VANCOUVER, May 13.—W. Fallant was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon after hearing the circumstances surrounding the death of W. D. McLeod Sunday night at No. 2 logging camp, operated by Brooks, Scanlon & O'Brien at Stillwater. Fallant and McLeod became engaged in an argument, and blows were struck. There was not a bruise on his body, however, except a slight discoloration above the bridge of his nose. Heart failure as a result of over-exertion was given as the cause of death.

NEW FRENCH BLOC ISSUES MANIFESTO

Republican Socialist for President of Republic, a Radical for Premier, and Socialist for Head of Chamber, Is Demand of Majority Party in Recent Elections—Equitable Taxation, Reduction of Military Service and Abolition of Parochial Schools

PARIS, May 13.—"France wants a peace, just and stable," this is the interpretation of former Premier Painleve of the results of Sunday's elections, as given to Excelsior today.

"There can be no just speech without reparation for the damages of the war," he continued, "and there can be no stable peace except in a broad, generous conception of the moral possibilities which transform strict law into living reality. To repair is to efface the material traces of the invasion.

"We must also—a task longer and more difficult—prepare an epoch in which the loyalty of the peoples will efface the real traces of the war. There can be no peaceful future in Europe and the world unless the French sincerely desire for conciliation meets with the loyally sustained execution of treaty obligations across the Rhine."

Quotidien which now becomes the official organ of the new Left bloc majority, publishes a manifesto this morning demanding the presidency of the Chamber for a Socialist, the Premiership for a Radical and the Presidency of the Republic for a Republican Socialist.

The programme outlined by Quotidien, includes:

Equitable taxation, reduction of military service, one single school, meaning abolition of the parochial schools and insistence upon attendance at the public schools, cheaper living, accord among nations and justice and peace.

WOULD PLACE THE CRADLE BESIDE THE EMPIRE'S FLAG

LONDON, May 13.—"If I had my way I would put a cradle beside the flag on Empire Day and when the girls of the schools came to salute the flag, I would make every girl salute the cradle," declared Lord William Gascoyne-Cecil, Bishop of Exeter in a speech yesterday. "What has happened in France in the matter of the falling birth rate," the bishop continued, "is also happening here. The average family in Devonshire is only slightly over three members."

FORMER PROHIBITION AGENT TESTIFIES

Tells of Indictments in 1921 and Leniency Exercised Towards Culprits in Washington

WASHINGTON, May 13.—When the Harding administration took office in 1921, prohibition agents were engaged in "cleaning up the liquor situation in Washington," the Senate Daugherty Committee was told today, but thirty-four persons and places purveying intoxicants all escaped prosecution.

H. J. Burton, former agent for the prohibition unit, but now in the service of the Governor of Ohio, testified he was one of the men assigned to the work late in February, 1921, a few days before the inauguration. With five associates and the local police, he made the arrests, he said, and served the warrants on "bootleggers operating mainly through the hotels."

All the cases were good enough for conviction, Burton asserted, but the persons arrested were allowed to forfeit small bonds, and in some cases to return to their occupation undisturbed.

OFFER FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS IN REWARDS

Irish Free State Will Pay £2,000 for Conviction of Any One of Five Queenstown Assassins

DUBLIN, May 13.—The Free State Government today issued a proclamation offering £10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of five men said to have been responsible for the attack at Queenstown, March 21, on a leave party of the Royal Garrison Artillery when one British soldier was killed, one officer seriously wounded and 17 soldiers and five civilians struck by machine gun bullets.

The proclamation named the men, gave full descriptions of them and offered £2,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any one of them.

TORONTO BROKERS CHARGED IN COURT

Messrs. Jarvis, Father and Son, and Manager, Allowed Out on Bail Until May 21

TORONTO, May 13.—Amelius Jarvis, sr., bond dealer and internationally known capitalist; Amelius Jarvis, jr., his son and business associate; and Harry Pepall, manager of the firm, appeared in police court this morning before Police Magistrate Jones charged with conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government, and were remanded until May 21. The police court lasted only a few minutes.

Mr. Jarvis and his son were represented by R. H. Greer, K. C., and Harry Pepall by A. C. Sleght, K. C. Bail granted yesterday when the men were arrested on instructions of Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General, was renewed. Amelius Jarvis, sr., and Harry Pepall are held in bonds of $50,000 each and Amelius Jarvis, jr., in the sum of $25,000.

By No Means Allow Your Bowels To Get Constipated

If you allow your bowels to become constipated you will have billious attacks, sick headaches, coated tongue, foul breath, sallow complexion, specks floating before the eyes, whites of the eyes dull and yellow, heartburn, water brash, etc.

Keep your bowels regular by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, as by doing so you will be able to keep well and have no more trouble with your liver.

Mrs. I. Rubin, Halbrite, Sask., writes: "I was very badly troubled with constipation, often had bad headaches, my tongue was coated, and I felt anything but well.

"After taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills I have felt much better as they certainly did me a lot of good."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. (Advt.)

SPEAKING OF

How to Build Better and at Less Cost

Stop, if you will, for a moment, and note in your immediate surroundings the multitude of purposes for which woodwork is used.

For each individual purpose there is one species of timber best suited for that particular use. In addition, each species is divided into many different grades, and each grade differs in cost to the purchaser.

That is the point!

The average purchaser cannot have the knowledge so vitally essential to economical woodwork buying, and for that reason, if he would build better and at less cost, he should not fail to find a company thoroughly able and willing to give him all the benefit of their knowledge.

MINISTER REPLIES TO MAYOR'S LETTER

In reply to a telegram sent to Hon. J. H. King, Federal Minister of Public Works, urging serious consideration of the city's request for aid from the Dominion Government in entertaining the Special Service Squadron, Mayor Hayward received the following message yesterday:

"Replying to your wire, the Government is considering what is necessary and proper regarding entertainment of fleet. Will ask Parliament to make special grant." Hoping Minister of Defence will be able to attend at Victoria, and he will be glad to confer with local authorities and assist in making the visit a success. Impossible for Government to go farther until estimates of expenditure has been before Parliament. I am referring your wire to the Minister for consideration."

WANTS CANDIDATES TO WORK FOR ROAD

MR. C. L. HARRISON URGES WEST COAST DEVELOPMENT

Says "Let Us Have Some of Millions Spent on Mainland by Government Placed on Island"

"The fate of Victoria hangs upon the development of the west coast of Vancouver Island. We must reach out for the natural resources of timber, minerals and fish, bring them to our back door and turn them into money. Let us get the assurance from the candidates who run in this city for the Provincial Legislature at the general election that they will, if elected, see that the West Coast Road is built," declared Mr. Claude H. Harrison, city prosecutor, in addressing members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club at its weekly luncheon gathering yesterday noon in the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Harrison pointed out that Victoria was not in a good position financially, but he believed that if a road was built to San Juan and business was made to flow through Victoria, the city would show much improvement, and greater progress and advancement would be the results. He stated that the city wanted and should go after the resources to be found on the west coast, stating that Victoria needed them very much to stimulate business here.

The speaker told of the vast timber areas, the large fisheries, the good land, the enormous mineral wealth and magnificent scenery and tourist advantages of the west coast, and stated that both a railroad and a road were needed there. He observed that it was not a difficult route from Victoria to Port San Juan. He mentioned that a road connected Jordan River with Victoria, and it was only 35 miles further to Port San Juan.

"Let us have some of the millions which the Government has been spending on the Mainland spent on Vancouver Island." Mr. Harrison advocated. "If millions can be spent in developing other parts of British Columbia, surely money can be found to build a very necessary road which will put Victoria back in a place which it once held. We need this work done, and need it badly."

That the construction of the West Coast Road would bring business through Victoria, and would be a determining factor in ushering in prosperity to this community, was the contention of Mr. Harrison, who admitted that the city, from a selfish viewpoint, could expect little gain from the development of the east coast of the Island.

SHOULD IMPROVE STREET MANNERS

Magistrate Reads Lesson to Young Relative to Assaulting Chinaman —Work Is More Fitting

Police Magistrate Jay holds the opinion that there is evidently growing up here a class of young men who behave themselves in anything but a proper manner on the streets.

This refers to the practice that has come before him of young men assaulting Chinamen on the streets. He so expressed himself yesterday morning in court in dealing with a case of assault that was before him in which a young man named Hadden was charged with striking a Chinaman on the street last Saturday evening. The magistrate fined the accused $15, or in default ten days' imprisonment.

His honor then addressed himself to a group of young men who assembled in the court room. He said, "I see a crowd of young men at the back of the court room who were here yesterday morning also. These young men would be better working." His Honor added that they might be far better employed than being around the court room.

The evidence that was submitted went to show that two Chinamen had been hit by the accused, who, it was alleged, had been drinking some. According to the Chinamen, they had not molested the accused nor his companion.

The story told by the accused differed somewhat from this. He contended that he had been jostled by the Chinaman when he came out of the Poodle Dog restaurant.

After he had hit the Chinaman he was accosted by another Chinaman, who, it was explained by the prosecuting attorney, Mr. C. L. Harrison, had been educated in the schools of this city. This man stepped up to the accused and asked him why he hit his uncle.

The answer was evidently not satisfactory, for he immediately vouchsafed the information, "I'm the man you're looking for," and proceeded to administer in the language of the street a "licking" to the accused, who complained that he was kicked by one of the Chinamen while he was down.

The magistrate frankly informed the accused that he did not believe that in his rather long tale of the circumstances connected with the trouble he had told all the truth.

LEGION HOLDS BIG SMOKING CONCERT

Ex-Service Men From Bamberton Are Guests—Fine Programme of Song and Story

The Canadian Legion held one of their monthly smoking concerts Saturday evening at headquarters on Douglas Street and there was an excellent attendance of members and friends. The following entertained in an excellent manner: Messrs. G. Potter, Ellis, J. Ramsay, Uglow, Fish, Corbett, Merryfield, Scott and Dobbie. Mrs. D. Harris acted as pianist.

Comrade G. Potter, who left for the Old Country yesterday, was extended a very hearty vote of thanks for his excellent services to the Legion at various times and was wished Godspeed and a safe return.

The concert closed at 11:15 p.m. and was voted the best held by the Legion to date. A number of ex-service men from Bamberton Cement Works were present as guests. Reeve Robert Macnicol presided as chairman.

LABOR WILL HOLD CONVENTION FRIDAY

CANDIDATES MUST WORK FOR COLLECTIVE OWNERSHIP

Dr. Davies and Dr. Hall Again Mentioned in Election Talk—Both Silent on Intentions

The newly-born Labor Party, formed with the sanction of the Canadian Trades Congress, which has in the past kept clear of politics, will hold a local convention on Friday night in the K. of P. Hall. It will be an open meeting, with no distinction made between men and women, voters and non-voters, unionists and non-union workers. After the formation of the party at this meeting the question of candidates will be taken up. Should the party decide to contest the forthcoming election, candidates will receive their instructions, this being procedure at variance with present day methods of old parties. It is the intention to keep the party in constant touch with its membership. This will be accomplished by the formation of a social club. The only qualification required for membership in the party is a pledge to work for the collective ownership and democratic operation of the means of wealth production and the abolition of capitalism.

The political pendulum is again swinging towards Dr. Ernest Hall and Rev. Clem Davies. It is understood that both gentlemen are being urged by their many friends to come out as Independents. Neither has made a definite reply to these requests, but rumor has it that before the week-end the public will know where they stand.

Mr. C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, is another possibility, according to gossip in Third Party circles, but he also has refused to declare his intentions.

With these three men in the field as Independents the local electors would find plenty of material to choose from, as other names are also mentioned.

Dr. Davies has been approached by members of the Trades and Labor Council and asked his intentions in the coming campaign. The support of Labor would undoubtedly be thrown to the divine and medico should they run.

WANT POLICEWOMAN'S STATUS EXPLAINED

Local Council of Women Appoints Delegates to Confer With the Police Commission

At its meeting on Monday the Local Council of Women appointed a committee of four, which is instructed to attend the next meeting of the Police Commission and discuss with them the status of policewoman, the matter arising from the commission's recent action in suspending Miss Wark. The personnel of the committee is Dr. Irene Bastow Hudson, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Mrs. William Grant and Mrs. J. D. Gordon.

Mrs. Clarke reported for the educational committee of the council.

A resolution sent from the Victoria and District Anti-Narcotic League was adopted by the council. The purport of this resolution was that Judge Emily Murphy, authoress and police magistrate of Edmonton, should be sent as lay representative to the world conference on narcotics to be held in Europe this year.

The Victorian Order of Nurses reported in connection with the recent visit here of Miss Smellie, the new superintendent for the Dominion, who had addressed the local branch and given some interesting facts.

Reporting for the health committee, Dr. Irene Hudson indicated the need of follow-up work in connection with school nursing and recommended the opening of a small fund which might be available for assistance in this connection.

You Can Eat Anything You Like And Not Have HEARTBURN

In all cases of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by a disturbed appetite, as when too much food is taken into the stomach it is liable to ferment and become extremely sour, vomiting occurs, and what is thrown up is generally sour and bitter. When you are in this condition you will find that Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will give you relief right away.

Mr. Joseph H. MacDonald, Christmas Island, N.S., writes: "Two years ago I suffered all the time from heartburn. I took one vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and have never been troubled since.

It is very nice to be able to eat anything you like and not have heartburn any more."

FINDS VANCOUVER IS CENTRE OF VICE

DR. DAVIES TELLS OF FOUL DENS RIFE WITH SIN

Society Girls Met by Victoria Minister In Reeking Underworld "Joints" of the Mainland

If Jesus Christ had stood beside him when he made his tour of Vancouver's underworld last week, Dr. Clem Davies told his congregation at Centennial Methodist Church on Sunday night, He would have wept as He had done when He overlooked Jerusalem.

"As I stood in that great city's underworld and gazed upon its moral desolation," said Dr. Davies, "I said to myself, 'If Jesus were here what would He do?'

"Business men talked about deals in hotel rotundas. Theatres were packed. Cars were racing along the lines. Churches raised their long spires into the dark above. And ever and anon continues this wickedness. Nobody seems to know, or if they know, they don't seem to care.

"I think if Jesus stood beside me the other night He would have done what he did when he overlooked Jerusalem—wept over it. I imagine He would have said, 'O Vancouver! How often would I have gathered you as a hen gathereth her chickens; but ye would not; ye will not come unto Me that ye might have life.'"

The social reform carried on in Vancouver, said Dr. Davies, was discredited, although it did no more than scratch the surface. Two ministers had tried to remove the depravity that existed, and their names, as a result of their efforts, were a hiss and a byword.

In one "joint" visited was found a white girl who complained bitterly that she had just handed over money for drugs to a Chinaman who had fled at the approach of the police officers who were with Dr. Davies. With a fearful oath she had said: "The Chink has my money and I haven't any dope. But I should worry! I have some cached on the side. I always keep a little ahead in case of accidents."

Some of the "400"

One of the foul dens visited contained a party of young girls and two elderly men. One girl, quite cultured and aristocratic, was asked what she was doing there.

"Oh, I am just here for some fun," she replied.

"Do your parents know you are here?" she was asked.

"No."

"Where do you live?"

She gave an address in Shaughnessy Heights, the residential district of Vancouver's millionaires.

At the appeal of the detectives she went home, Dr. Davies said.

The two officers with whom Dr. Davies made his trip were members of the city drug squad. These men were doing good work, but they were "criticized, cursed, cudgelled, harpooned and lampooned, and much of their work is held in contempt by a certain police force which shall be nameless and which is hostile to them."

What is the Tubular Backbone?

THE Durant Tubular Backbone is a hollow steel truss hot rivetted between the third and fourth cross members of the frame, holding them parallel and absolutely rigid. This rigidity is demonstrated when one front wheel is removed—the Star Car runs right along, the same as with both.

The Tubular Backbone prevents creaking and strain and distortion of the body, and forces the springs to absorb the shocks of the road.

MUNICIPAL BUDGET

The special committee of the City Council appointed to bring about further reductions in the civic budget has done its work well. It has followed the dictum of Mayor Hayward of introducing "economy until it hurts." The property owners, and they constitute the vast majority of those interested in what is being done, will be pleased, and through the reductions effected in expenditure the credit of the municipality will be placed on a more solid basis. The city appealed, but appealed in vain, to the Provincial Government to make a grant in lieu of taxes which should be paid on Government property situate within the municipality. It appealed also, and in vain, for an additional governmental grant towards the cost of the Johnson Street Bridge, in view of the fact that the structure led to an expenditure far beyond original estimates. In the face of the refusal of aid from the Government, the city has had to adopt drastic economies. They are needed at this time.

The budget as it now stands, and particularly if the decision is reached to tax 50 per cent of improvements so that the mill rate for the year will not be greater than it was last year, should have the effect of acting as a check on the number of properties which would revert to the city in the event of any new increase in the taxation of land. That is the problem before our municipality, namely, to prevent further reversions, or to reduce them to the lowest ebb. It is of the highest importance, too, that in conjunction with the new policy of civic economies there should be a strenuous effort made to dispose of lands which have already reverted, and so make them tax-producing. When the city has finally disposed of its budget it should take up this matter. In our opinion the subject is one big enough to be taken out of the hands of the reverted lands committee and dealt with by the City Council as a whole. It is a subject broad enough to induce the Council to seek advice and co-operation from every quarter. So many methods of disposing of these lands have been advanced that it would be confusing the situation to propose any detailed scheme at this time. What is certain, however, is that the City Council should have a policy which can be pursued unremittingly. The reverted lands committee hardly visualizes the seriousness of the situation. So far as we know it seeks co-operation from no quarter, yet it is time that it became aware that upon a subject of such vast importance to the community as a whole it is not the sole repositary of wisdom and information.

Economy has now been introduced in civic expenditures. The next step is to conduct a campaign for the restoration of values and thus the restoration of the tax-producing possibilities to those lands which have gone into possession of the municipality because of the inability of their former owners to meet the taxes that were imposed.

LIBERAL TARIFF POLICY

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has compiled a table giving details of the tariff reductions in the present Federal Budget. The advocates of the policy of Protection in Canada are now thoroughly awakened to the fact that the present reductions in the Customs tariff are the most serious and far-reaching that this Dominion has ever experienced. That means, of course, that the Liberal Government has surrendered to the wishes of the Progressive element in Parliament. The tariff reductions are the price the country has to pay so that the Liberals, by an unwritten political agreement with the Progressives, may remain in power.

The general effect of the Budget proposals is that the tariff has been reduced very seriously on thousands of manufactured articles. These articles, as shown by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, are manufactured by firms located in nearly all the cities, and many towns and villages throughout the Dominion. The resultant effect will be that the importation of all these articles from the United States will be greatly increased and there will be loss of business, unemployment and impairment of capital in Canada. Since the war there have been tariff reductions in 1919, 1920, 1922 and 1923, and none of these reductions has produced the promised results. There have been hard times, and the farmers, the class which it was intended should derive particular benefits, have passed through three or four of the worst years in their experience, that is if the complaints which they have raised in such large volume are to be believed.

The bad results of a policy tending towards free trade for such a country as Canada have been very apparent. Thousands of our skilled workers, as well as others, have been leaving the country to seek employment where the tariff barriers are being built higher and higher. We have not had a corresponding gain in the number of immigrants who have reached our shores. Our farmers complain that they are losing a considerable proportion of the domestic market and that the prices they secure for their products have steadily declined. These conditions are the logical outcome of tariff reductions. Probably they will become accentuated as effects of the latest Budget are felt throughout the country. It would seem as if the Liberal Government is more concerned about remaining in power than about national prosperity.

IMPERIAL DEFENCE

Mr. L. S. Amery, who was First Lord of the Admiralty in the late Baldwin Government, draws attention to some features of Imperial Defence, especially in relation to the Singapore base. After the Great War, he points out, Britain had a Navy more powerful than all the navies of the world combined. What Britain did was at once to commence to dismantle that mighty instrument of war. Within a few years over 2,000,000 tons of fighting ships were scrapped, Britain's object being to give a lead in the peaceful purposes of the world with a reduced Navy. With the Navy that was left, however, there was one thing essential, namely, that it should be free to move anywhere, wherever it was needed, for the defence of the territory or trade of the Empire. To insure this it was essential to bring up-to-date the naval bases in certain regions which had been subjected to neglect during the war period.

One of these regions is the Pacific Ocean, in which the base of Singapore is the strategic point. Singapore, Mr. Amery shows, is not only the gateway from the Indian Ocean to the Pacific, but also it protects the whole of the vast region of the Indian Ocean. Without that base the British Navy cannot operate in the Pacific Ocean. British interests in that region are to an extent undefended today. They can only be defended adequately if the Singapore base is completed. "The present Government," says Mr. Amery, "has decided to leave three-quarters of the Empire and half our trade defenceless for all" time in order to make a gesture to the world at large, and, I presume, to Japan in particular. Looking back at the result of a similar vague and weak gesture nearly twenty years ago, I fear that the consequences of the Government's action, unless speedily reversed, will only be to create discord and distrust in our national relations."

Mr. Amery says that the vast resources of the British Empire cannot in the long run be defended by the resources of one little island in the North Sea. Eventually it is through the co-operation of the partner states in the British Commonwealth that they must be defended. The policy of the Admiralty in the Baldwin Government was to develop that spirit of co-operation, and, by establishing the base at Singapore, to make that co-operation possible by enabling the British Navy to go to the assistance of the Dominions. This policy of co-operation has now been reversed by the Labor Government in Britain, reversed without consulting the Dominions, and in the face of strong protests from the Dominions most directly concerned. Mr. Amery believes, and there is no doubt that he is correct, that the policy of material co-operation and defence will survive the setback occasioned by the abandonment of the Singapore base. In every likelihood circumstances will arise which will compel a British Government of the near future to set to work on the establishment of the Singapore base so that Britain may stand guard over her growing interests in the Pacific and Indian Oceans.

The Liberal Government is appealing to the people of British Columbia on its record. That record is a financial one in many aspects. It includes the increase of the Provincial Debt by some $50,000,000 and an increase in annual expenditure on current account from less than $7,000,000 for 1916 to some $20,000,000 for the last financial year. It is for the people of British Columbia to say if they have received benefits in proportion to this vast growth in the cost of Provincial administration. The financial record of the Government is its most vulnerable point.

The three names most prominently mentioned as Conservative candidates for Victoria in the coming Provincial election are those of Mr. J. Hinchliffe, who was a member of the last Legislature; Mayor Reginald Hayward and Mr. H. Despard Twigg. There can be no doubt that these three would make a very strong appeal to the electorate, if, in the wisdom of the coming convention, they should be nominated.

The Conservatives should lose no time in nominating their candidates in this city for the forthcoming Provincial election. The longer they are in the field the better they will become known to the public. What is more, time is the essence of the contract in enunicating policies to an electorate — from the educational viewpoint.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Nikola Tesla, born in Serbia, has been in New York for forty years. During all that time he has been investigating the mysteries of electricity, occasionally announcing some sensational discovery that was to create revolutions in the manner of communication between men and in the application of power to industry. It is a curious thing that, although this Serbian inventor has been working in his special field for so many years his name does not appear to have been associated with any great invention—at least, not so far as we have been able to gather from the newspapers.

* * *

But Tesla has at last promised the world something definite as a result of his experiments. He says he has discovered a way of transmitting power without wires, and that there are practically no limits to the distance this power can be transmitted. It can be sent around the earth or through the earth just as easily as across the street. Ships will be propelled by it, aircraft will draw power from it, the wheels of industry will be driven by it, and the whole of the world will be lighted by it.

* * *

Some years ago Tesla was accustomed to having stories published in the newspapers at irregular intervals telling abont some marvellous things he was going to do by application of his knowledge of electricity. Marvellous things have been done; but the name of Tesla has not been connected with them so far as we know. But all our scepticism will be annihilated when we see machines flying without the use of fuel and house illuminated by light drawn from the earth.

The Toronto Globe says Government sale and bootlegging seem to travel in double harness in British Columbia. There it is: the old "holier than thou" attitude of Ontario. Recent scandals in connection with banks and public men, not to mention other things, have not subdued the hanghty and intolerant spirit of the Eastern Province.

* * *

As a matter of fact, it appears that Ontario is the province in which Government sale and bootlegging travel in double harness. The Government sells to the drug stores and the drug stores sell to the illicit purveyors as well as to consumers licensed by prescription. Prohibition in Ontario is just a sham, a piece of hypocrisy characteristic of the place and the people. The Government receives a handsome sum in revenue from the sale of liquor—and the doctors probably a larger sum from the sale of prescriptions.

Our friend Mr. John Dean has been investigating the affairs of some municipal golf links and has found nothing to commend such institutions. They are expensive to start and more expensive to maintain, according to the information secured; and the revevue derived from them is far from satisfactory. Well, we have had information bearing upon some other public golf links, and everybody connected with them, and particularly the people who played upon them, appeared to be delighted with the results.

* * *

On the other hand, Dr. Frank Crane, a contributor to the newspapers on various topics, has lately been saying something about the high cost of golf as played upon private links. He writes: "According to the items collected by Damon Runyou the other day, you could in 1903 have joined the Claremont Country Club of Oakland, California, for $100. Now, if you can get in, the privilege will cost you $2,230. 'You could,' he says, 'have joined the San Francisco Golf and Country Club in 1897 for $1,500, a by no means insignificant sum in those days. Today the privilege is held at $3,500.' Three years ago when the Wiltshire Country Club of Los Angeles was new, a membership cost $250. Now it costs $1,250. The Virginia Country Club of Long Beach, Cal., started out about the same period with its membership at $100. Now it costs $1,000 to get in this club."

* * *

We do not know why poor people, or even comparatively poor people, should want to play golf at all. From a superficial point of view it is a silly, footling sort of way of passing the time. Why should a common man or woman lust after amusement that only the rich can afford? We do not know. Perhaps the average man or the average woman is just naturally wrong-headed, depraved, or vicious. And in many places this inherent vice actually is being cherished as a precious thing instead of being crushed under the heel as we would treat the head of a viper. There are many public golf links, and they are being patronized by all classes and conditions of people.

* * *

As far as the golf players of Victoria are concerned, we are assured, and are eager to convey the assurance to Mr. Dean and all who share his views, they do not care what is done about the construction of links at Elk Lake. Golf is not an expensive game as yet in Victoria; it probably can be indulged in more cheaply by the weaklings who are addicted to it than is the case in any other part of the world. Consequently those who have advocated the case of the course at Elk Lake have been actuated by real for the interests of the city; because there is no doubt that a great tide of travellers is going to flood Vancouver Island before the passage of many years. A majority of the members of this company will be golfers. The local courses will not be capable of accommodating them all. They will not stay long if their vices, the chief being golf, are not humored.

Canada's Story Day by Day

When Marquis de la Jonquiere, an Admiral in the French navy with a fleet of warships bound for Louisburg and the conquest of Acadia, were taken prisoners by an alert British fleet in mid-Atlantic on this day in 1747, the incident added fuel to the fire of the Admiral's animosity towards the British who had conquered Acadia. The Marquis, having been released from his imprisonment in Britain, was afterwards made Governor of New France where his ruling interests were enrichment of himself for the satisfaction of his miserly instincts, and making trouble for the British in Acadia. He was largely responsible for the condition which culminated in the expulsion of the Acadians, though he died before that occurred. He sent an agent into Acadia to urge resistance to British authority. So miserly was he that on his death-bed at the Chateau St. Louis, in Quebec, he ordered his attendants to snuff out the wax candles and substitute the cheaper tallow.

FOLLY

The moon has made me weary
With its silver and its song.
Such ardor in so old a thing
Is wrong, all wrong.

It should be limping sleetly
Across a leaden sky,
Or grumbling at the cloud-hills
The wind piles high.

It should be teaching little moons
The proper way to shine,
Instead of singing sonnets
To each adoring pine.

BEFORE the birth of St. Camillus de Lellis, his mother is said to have had a dream in which she saw her son with a red cross marked upon his breast, and followed by a great company of men, all wearing the same strange symbol. Greatly troubled by the dream, she confided it to her confessor, and he told her that it was a sign that her child would do great things for the Church.

Banner of St. Camillus Was Red Cross

When Camillus grew to manhood he was horrified by the treatment which the sick and infirm poor received, and he founded a company of nurses to go from hospital to hospital and out into the highways and byways, and even onto the battlefield and succor the sick and dying. Their insignia was a red cross.

Political Honesty

Sir,—Hon. Mr. Oliver stated that "wild and malicious falsehoods had been circulated by the so-called Provincial Party, an organization whose leaders profess to be animated by the purest motives, yet employ the vilest of methods to secure their own ends." (See Colonist report 9th inst.)

General McRae must have observed that the campaign of lies conducted by the Premier, which resulted in the rout of the Conservatives, has worked so well that he flatters His Honesty by imitating him.

Before the Premier's idolaters protest against this comparison between the apostles of honesty and purity, let them examine the records of his talk and they will find that there is no exotic of "malicious falsehood" from the "Unscarred General" that cannot be paralleled by the utterances of the unscratched Oliver Government and family. Has the Premier forgotten his frequent threats to put Mr. Bowser behind the bars?

To save his own face, the Premier put Mr. Bowser on trial, and then ran away from it. Instead of exonerating him, he has pursued him with inundoes which are viler than General McRae's "vilest of methods."

Why should the Premier wax wrathful because General McRae adopts his political style? Has the Father of Lies made him sole licensee of calumny? It is credible that when the Premier was hard pressed to tell the commissioner what he knew about Mr. Bowser, finally said he knew nothing wrong?

Is it credible that when confronted with reports of his own speeches, which counsel said, were worse than any charges the Provincial Party had made against Mr. Bowser, that the Premier, after wriggling as befitted his honesty, said that it was only political talk? It is credible that the same man said a few days later when not under oath, that his charges still stood against Mr. Bowser? What a difference between the Premier politically drunk and politically sober.

To put him under oath appears to be the only way to put a period to his political debauch. When the gentlemen of the Chamber of Commerce are considering why capital is scared from the province, they should not overlook the effects of the contest between Oliver and McRae. Urged on by the applause of their respective supporters, the glory is all theirs, while the disgrace belongs to the country. Again the attention of these champions of honesty and purity is requested to the advice of Diderot: "Be a hypocrite if thou wilt, but do not talk like a hypocrite. Keep the vices that are useful to thee, but avoid their tone, and the appearances that would make thee laughable."

Funny Premier; funnier General.

Defiling the Beaches

Sir,—I wish to congratulate you upon your timely reference in a recent issue to the perennial subject of the dumping of garbage in the waters adjacent to our harbor front, and as a humble citizen add my letter of protest against this filthy practice.

Many unavailing protests have been made to past aldermanic boards, and I now sincerely trust our present worthy members will give this painful subject the remedial attention it deserves.

Whether the litter of decaying vegetable matter, bottles, tins, overripe cold storage fowl, together with ancient bundles of office statements and restaurant literature bearing Victoria addresses so often found cast up on the Dallas waterfront comes from local shipping or from city garbage is not for me to say; suffice it to know that since our prevailing winds during the Summer months are in the southwest, and the set of the local incoming tidal currents bear directly towards and along our Dallas Road beach it must be obvious to any layman that garbage dumped at sea within the influence of wind and tide as above stated must, like the proverbial chicken, come home to roost.

Since our ratepayers are paying large sums of money annually to advertise the beauties of Victoria and its beaches among the traveling public, the least we might expect is that these beaches might be safeguarded for their benefit and pleasure without mentioning the children of our citizens who are obliged to grub about in this filthy mess instead of in nice, clean sand and gravel whenever inclination takes them to the sea front.

The Fleet Reception

Sir,—The great interest taken by the general public in the Pioneers' Reunion should, to some extent, repay those who arranged its details for the time and trouble they have so freely expended.

This interest in her history augurs well for the future of British Columbia as "A wise nation...fosters national pride and love of country by perpetual references to the sacrifices and glories of the past."

In view of the prevalent attitude, one reads with some astonishment Mr. Miller Higgs' statement that the Provincial Government is not acceding to the request that a grant be given to the schools to enable the children to visit the fleet next month. Looked at from an historical point of view, it would appear that the Province is throwing away a rare opportunity of bringing home to the men and women of the future facts that it should be proud to broadcast to the world; that many of the main events in the evolution of the Freedom of the Seas took place on this very coast.

In view of its especial interest at the present moment, I trust that you will allow me space to review the matter briefly.

It is a matter of common knowledge that, in the days of Queen Elizabeth, Sir Francis Drake, after some slight bickering with the Spaniards in the Pacific, which he reached by way of the Straits of Magellan, decided to return to England by another route.

Before doing so by his famous circumnavigation of the world, he headed in this direction to see if he could make his way to Devon by way of the Northwest Passage. Exactly how far he came in this direction is still a matter for discussion, but it is the opinion of many eminent historians that he approached the latitude of Cape Flattery (a point a few miles west of Victoria, reached by the German Fleet in 1914).

Now the most remarkable thing about the Drake affair was that the Spanish ambassador, in subsequently discussing the matter with Queen Elizabeth, took exception, not to that seaman's doings in the Pacific, but to the mere fact of his presence in what the Spaniards regarded as a private ocean.

Elizabeth's reply was: "Tell your royal master that a title to the ocean cannot belong to any people or private persons, inasmuch as neither nature nor public use or custom permitteth any possession thereof."

Ogilvie, who describes this episode in "International Waterways," tells us that "the insistence of Spain on the observance of her exclusive rights in all appropriated seas, intensified by other arrogant claims, culminated in the expedition of the Armada." After the defeat of this fleet the question of the sovereignty of the Pacific lay dormant for centuries until finally disposed of at the time of the celebrated Nootka affair, an episode which so few people even yet connect with Vancouver Island.

The matter was settled without war, but only after the equipment by Britain of the "Spanish Armament"—then the biggest fleet in European history—did Spain definitely renounce all claim to the exclusive sovereignty of the Pacific, and thereby finally acknowledge the principle of the Freedom of the Seas laid down by Queen Elizabeth on the occasion of Drake's visit to these parts.

In regard to the land on this continent, the Queen had announced at the time of the Drake affair that Spain had no exclusive right to the shores of the Pacific and that possession of this country could only be obtained by occupation.

This question, too, was finally settled at Nootka, when the abandonment of the coast by Spain opened the way to its settlement from Canada, whence MacKenzie, the first overland pioneer, reached this coast in 1793.

It is difficult to go into the matter of the sovereignty of this coast without considering the question of the whole continent. Here again, if we attempt to trace to their source the causes of the rise and fall of nations we venture into very deep waters indeed. The ultimate human cause is best described by Admiral Mahan, the great American historian, who ascribes the existence of Anglo-Saxon institutions throughout North America, from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic, to the fact that Britain held command of the seas during certain critical periods of the world's history; indeed to realize the effect of this influence on the history of the continent we have to turn to the works of American writers, such as Mahan, Ogilvie and Marshall.

Looked at from a national point of view, however, it would appear that the history of the events which have taken place on her western seaboard will, when fully written, afford Canada an inspiration which will bind her component parts closer together by making her realize her dependence on the power which makes the sea free to all such as use it on their lawful occasions, and which is so greatly responsible, not only for the history of our coast, but for that of the continent and the world in general.

Next month we welcome its present embodiment in the form of the Special Service Squadron. Should not the opportunity to view this great object lesson of our history and guarantee of our future be taken the fullest advantage of from the educational standpoint?

Beacon Hill as Site

Sir,—As I was being driven along the seafront last Thursday, my companion, Mr. C. B. Wood, advanced nearly all the points in favor of Beacon Hill as the site for the proposed cenotaph that you set forth in your editorial in Friday's Colonist, and others besides. Mr. Wood's idea was that the monument should take the form of a tall shaft with a brilliant light on the top of it, thus perpetuating the origin from which the hill took its name. At first thought I liked your idea of a colonnade better, as if well proportioned it could be made an object of unusual beauty, but on more mature consideration I reverted to my preference for a shaft. Unless a fund was provided for a caretaker—which I imagine would not be practicable—a colonnade might become an exceedingly untidy object, and the floor of one littered with empty cigarette, chewing gum, candy and match boxes with here and there an old newspaper, or battered magazine would be an object of repulsion, which is far from what we desire as a memorial for our honored dead.

So, as I have snaid, my fancy reverted to a shaft, but better than the bright light on the top of it would be, I think, a dead-white shaft illuminated at the four corners by lights so shaded that their rays would be directed only on the shaft. This would make a striking object that would be seen from many parts of the city and from far out in the Strait, and it ever would bring to our memory those brave fellows who fought and fell in Flanders and other battlefields of the Great War.

Mr. Wood thinks that if the B.C. Electric Company were properly approached they would undertake to look after the lighting of the shaft gratis, but in this he is more optimistic than

A War Memorial

Sir,—Taking a walk yesterday my friend had to exclaim to me on the beauty of the afternoon and how lovely the park looked, and we could not help thinking if only there were a tower and peal of bells on Beacon Hill to ring in memory of our fallen friends how could there be anything to commemorate so well their brave, unselfish deed. If a memorial tower was built there, with bronze tablet for all the names, anyone who wished could put up one out of, say, eight bells, with suitable inscription, specially to the memory of one or more. A clock and chimes and other details might also be put up in the same way. In the town and district there are ringers who would be delighted to ring such a peal, and where in the world could one sound so well.

There is a chance now to do something really good. Will Victoria do something commonplace?

The Relaxed Terms—If time is extended, Mr. Mackenzie offers to pledge the Government to commence on the Island this year and spend not less than a million and a half in the Province yearly. Perhaps it would be wise to accept this. Asking for impossibilities will cause indefinite delay and may give the Island the go-by.

Sidelights on a Great Industry

One Man in Every Four a Lumberman

OVER 40,000 ENGAGED IN DIFFERENT BRANCHES OF B.C. WOOD INDUSTRIES

Workers and Their Dependents Outnumber Inhabitants of Vancouver City

ONE man in every four in British Columbia is exclusively engaged in some actual process of logging, manufacturing or selling B.C. wood products, according to figures based on official industrial estimates.

In other words, if a lumberman is a man who makes his living out of the produce of a log, then no less than twenty-five per cent of the entire male working population of British Columbia comes under that category.

There are between 40,000 and 41,000 men employed by the 3,620 concerns handling B.C. wood, either in its raw state or one of its numerous manufactured forms.

Four Groups Engaged

This army of workers may be classified as follows: 19,100 in the logging industries, 16,800 in the plants converting forest products, 2,200 in selling either the unmanufactured or finished material, and 2,300 solely occupied in its transportation to the ship's side or the freight car.

Taking at least one-third of this great group of workers to be married men with wives and families, one comes to realize what a large proportion of the manhood, womanhood, and childhood of the Province look to the timber industries of B.C. for a livelihood.

It is quite reasonable to estimate that the wage-earners of the timber industries and their dependents comprise one-fourth of the entire population of the Province, and so actually outnumber the inhabitants of the city of Vancouver.

SPECTACULAR BLAZE ACROSS THE STRAIT

Forest Fire Raging Near Gettysburg Gives Rise to Fear That Race Rocks Lighthouse Burns

A spectacular forest fire on the Washington coast, across the Strait, lighting up the sky with ruddy glow, gave rise to the fear last night that Race Rocks lighthouse was ablaze.

The forest fire is near a small settlement called Gettysburg. In the vicinity of Lyre River. Beginning last Saturday, it is now raging over a front of from three to four miles.

There is a small sawmill in the vicinity of Gettysburg, and it is considered possible that the fire started from this mill.

DOORN, Holland, May 13.—Former Emperor William of Germany has not left Doorn, it was asserted today. The reports of his departure are believed to refer to Princess Hermine, who left Saturday for Silesia to see her children, who had changed schools. She will remain at Oels with the former Crown Prince for a few days.

BUILD SLIPS FOR MILL BAY FERRY

MAY CLOSE MALAHAT IN THE WINTER MONTHS

Provincial Government Action Paves Way for Shorter Route to Duncan and Up-Island Centres

A short motor route from Victoria to Duncan and all points north on the Island Highway is assured as a result of the decision by the Government yesterday to build slips on the Saanich and Mill Bay shores for the use of a motor car ferry.

Following conferences between Premier Oliver and a deputation from the Chamber of Commerce on Monday, it was announced yesterday that the Government would build the slips, at an estimated cost of $15,000.

While preliminary meetings between the deputation and Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, offered no hope that Government help would be forthcoming to implement the proposals of the Cascade Freighting Company, which offered to operate the steamer Cascade if the Government would build the slips, later representations to the Premier were successful in achieving the object which the Chamber of Commerce has been after for the last two years.

"I was against the proposal at first because I did not believe the ferry could earn a profit," explained Mr. Sutherland yesterday, "but when it was shown to me that the operation of the ferry would enable the Government to close the Malahat Drive during bad Winter weather and save $1,500 a year, I was converted to the idea."

The Cascade Freight Company, headed by Captain Kinnaird and Mr. C. B. Williams, is prepared to put the Cascade into service as soon as she has been converted for motor ferry service, and the slips are built. An all-year service will be guaranteed by the company. The company will give bonds, backed by Victoria business men, to guarantee rental of the slips for a period of five years, for $1,000 a year.

Mr. C. P. W. Schwengers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed his satisfaction yesterday at the outcome of the negotiations between the Chamber, the Government and the company. The ferry will be only four miles across the waters of Saanich Arm. Mr. Schwengers pointed out, and will save twelve miles on the motor trip from Victoria to Mill Bay and all points north on the Island Highway.

OBITUARIES

JOHNSON—The funeral of the late Rev. George Wesley Johnson will take place this afternoon. The cortege will proceed from the Thomson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street, at 3:15 o'clock, and fifteen minutes later service will be held at the Wesley Methodist Church, McPherson Avenue, when the Rev. J. F. Dimmick will conduct the service, after which the remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

HARDY—The funeral of the late Mrs. Frances J. Hardy, who passed away last Sunday afternoon at the family residence, 225 Skinner Street, Victoria West, has been arranged to take place on Thursday afternoon. Service will be held at the Thomson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street, at 2:30 o'clock, when the Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., of the First Presbyterian Church, will officiate. The remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery. The late Mrs. Hardy was a member of Victoria Review No. 1, W. B. A., for twenty-two years, and had many friends in this city who will regret to hear of her sudden demise.

LONGPRE—The funeral of the late Gaspard Longpre, who passed away Monday, will take place this morning, the cortege leaving the Sands Funeral Chapel at 8:50 o'clock, and ten minutes later Mass will be celebrated at St. Andrew's Cathedral. The remains will be laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery. The late Mr. Longpre was born in Quebec sixty-nine years ago, and is survived by one son and four daughters.

DUCKWORTH—The funeral of the late John James Duckworth, who passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on May 10, will take place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick will officiate, and interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

NEIL—Service for the late Clifford Neil was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the chapel of the B.C. Funeral Co. by the Rev. H. Pearson. Many friends attended, and the casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings. The following gentlemen acted as pallbearers: Messrs. T. Anderson, J. Beckerley, E. Irvine, T. A. MacKenzie, W. Shambrook and A. Shambrook. The remains were laid to rest at Colwood Cemetery.

FOX—The funeral of the late Mr. George Thomas Fox will leave his late residence, 1131 Collinson Street, this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, proceeding to St. John's Church, where service will be held at 2:30. Interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

SAUNDERS—There passed away Monday afternoon, at her home, 930 Wilmer Street, Mrs. Eliza Saunders, aged sixty-nine years, beloved wife of Frederick F. Saunders. She was born in Surrey, England, and had resided in this city for the past thirteen years. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. E. White and Mrs. A. Masters, in Victoria; four sons, Frederick A., in Victoria, James E., in Duncan; Frank G. in California, and Horace C., in England; also two sisters, Mrs. M. Welch, in Hampshire, and Miss Helen Marchant, in Surrey; and two brothers, James Marchant, in Victoria, and George Marchant, in England; and ten grandchildren. The remains are resting at the B.C. Funeral Chapel, where service will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Whose funeral will be held this afternoon, at 2:15 o'clock, from the residence, 1131 Collinson Street, proceeding to St. John's Church, where service will be held at 2:30. Mr. Fox was a native of Victoria, having been born here 56 years ago.

RETAILERS ASK HELP FOR QUEEN

MERCHANTS WILL HAVE TO PAY ANYWAY, THEY SAY

One Firm Offers $100 Provided Support Secured From the Other Members of Association

MISS NORIE BARKER

Far from satisfied with the support so far accorded by the merchants of the city, the executive of the Retail Merchants' Association have issued an appeal to all members to use the few remaining days of the May queen contest to such good effect as to place the queen of progress, Miss Norie Barker, at the head of the poll.

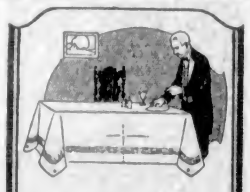

"It behoves every merchant to get behind our candidate," said the statement, "because if they do not do so, and thus neglect to boost the May 24 celebration, their apathy will prove a boomerang, for if the May queen competition fails to raise the money necessary, the merchants will have to shoulder the cost.

"It is not too late to put Miss Barker in the position she deserves. The executive asks every one of its members to put their strength behind our campaign during the next few days. If they do we are confident that on Saturday night, when the contest closes, Progress will be found to have won the day. Get acquainted by visiting 1213 Douglas Street, headquarters of the R.M.A."

Moving pictures were again shown at the retailers' headquarters last night by Mr. Jim Bryant. Other entertainment will be provided tonight and nightly hereafter during the week.

It is not without the range of possibility that the retailers may make a spurt this week that may gain for them the desired place at the top of the poll. One large firm has promised to buy $100 worth of votes for Miss Barker, provided the R.M.A. can produce 100 other firms or individuals willing to buy $10 worth each, or 200 agreeable to buy $5 worth each. If the money can be found, a total of 110,000 votes will be thus added to the standing of the queen of progress, enough to allow her to outdistance her competitors, unless the voting from now on becomes much heavier than it has been so far.

RACE DEVELOPING IN QUEEN CONTEST

MISS JEWELL WITHIN REACHING DISTANCE OF LEADER

Merchants' Stand Explained—No Need to Fear Later Appeals for Money, Says Mr. Sylvester

With four more days yet to go in the queen contest, interest is centering on the close race for leadership between Miss Mona Jewell, queen of benevolence, candidate of the Foresters and other fraternal bodies, and Miss Joyce Wormald, queen of state, representative of the city services. Yesterday Miss Jewell crept up to within 2,000 votes of Miss Wormald, according to the official figures, which, however, contained no indication of the ballots secured for the city candidate during the day.

The standing now is as follows: Miss Wormald, 90,000; Miss Jewell, 88,000; Miss Barker, 30,600; Miss McAllister, 26,500; and Miss Streeter, 26,000.

Should the queen competition fail to raise the amount necessary to finance the celebrations, other means will be taken to get the money, Mr. C. B. Sylvester, managing secretary of the Victoria Day committee, said last night.

"Some merchants have refused to support the queen contest because they believe they will be approached again after the competition and asked for further contributions," said Mr. Sylvester. "This is a mistake. The committee has no intention of asking the merchants to bear the expense of the celebrations this year. No guarantees, contrary to past custom, have been asked of them this year, and no appeal will be made to them should the queen competition fail to be the success expected. The citizens as a whole will pay for the celebrations. We have means in view to raise money that will apply to the pockets of everyone with the interest of the city at heart. The merchants need have no fear that we shall come to them with appeals for sums of money."

AUTO CLUB MEMBERS INVITED TO DINNER

Safety First Week to Be Described at Luncheon Today—Summer Arrangements Now Complete

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Victoria Branch, Automobile Club of British Columbia, will be held in the Chamber of Commerce restaurant today at 12:30 p.m. A number of important matters are to be discussed at this meeting, chief among them the Safety First Week, which has been set for the first week in June. The club has plans for a very active campaign during this week in the promotion of safety on the public highways, and it is the hope of the directors that it will result in a greatly reduced accident list.

Mr. F. G. T. Lucas, of Vancouver, president of the club, will most likely be in attendance, and as the safety first campaign originated with him, it is likely that he will make some interesting remarks along this line. Col. A. W. R. Wilby, president of the Victoria branch, will occupy the chair.

The extended touring facilities being provided by the club are now arranged for at nearly all points on the Island and the Lower Mainland. Mr. Fred J. Elkins, manager of the club, has been completing the appointing of garages for this service on the Mainland, while Mr. R. R. Webb, secretary of the Victoria branch, has been doing the same work on the Island. Full details of this scheme will be outlined in a pamphlet and a list of garages will be furnished the members in the very near future. In introducing the new service the three-mile limit, as operated by the Victoria Automobile Club last year, has been done away with. From now on, members will be enabled to get assistance at any point by applying to the closest official garage. These garages have all been visited by officials of the club and their scale of charges obtained, as well as a complete record of the facilities they have to offer motorists.

Members are urged to attend the board meetings in order that they may become more familiar with the work the club is doing. Any wishing to do so are asked to advise the secretary, phone 2191, before 10 a.m. today.

For the information of those who do not already know, the Automobile Club is the organization brought about by the merging of the Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster Automobile clubs and has no connection whatever with any other automobile organization other than its own branches in this Province. The membership of the organization comprises those motorists that have been organized and working in the interests of motoring for more than ten years. The secretary, Mr. R. R. Webb, 1008 Broad Street, will be glad to furnish any information regarding the club to anyone interested.

TROUBLE BLAMED ON IMMIGRATION

Toronto Mayor Tells Council Unemployment Caused by Influx and Asks for Opinion

The Mayor of Toronto, in a letter to the City Council Monday night, pointed out that his city had had a serious unemployment situation owing to immigration, and asked for an opinion from the Council concerning the desirability of requesting the Dominion government to alter its immigration policy.

Alderman Todd pointed out that the question was of great importance and should be carefully considered. Prices were inflated and there were too many laws, he contended. The wonder was that with all the regulations it was possible to carry on at all. He moved that the matter be referred to the Chamber of Commerce for an expression of opinion. The motion carried.

Alderman Woodward suggested the Trades and Labor Council be added, and this was agreed to.

The great need was immigration that would lead to the farming of the vacant lands, said Alderman Sargent.

There were thousands of honest, hard-working farmers not making a living, said Alderman Todd.

HIGHWAY TO FOLLOW FRASER CANYON

Provincial Government Reaches Decision on Route of Trans-B.C. Road—To Cost $1,250,000

The new Transprovincial Highway will go by way of the Fraser River Canyon, and the cost of the remaining links of the road will amount to $1,250,000, it was announced in the Parliament Buildings yesterday.

The gap in the highway, as to the route of which the Government has just reached a decision, will be filled in by a road to run north from Yale to Kamloops. It is hoped that the more southerly part of the Province, for which the alternative Hope-Princeton route was proposed, may be served by use of a road running south from Spence's Bridge.

The new work to be undertaken by the Government will involve building of a suspension bridge at Spuzzum. The reason which prevailed in the selection of the Fraser River Canyon route is that that route will be open for most of the year, whereas the Hope-Princeton route would be subject to frequent closure during the Winter, it was intimated by Government officials.

An occasional dose of DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN Keeps young girls fit

False Modesty Wrecks Health

THE young lady just assuming the responsibilities of a woman is very apt to be self-conscious of her physical functions, and in consequence neglect them. There is no time, however, when it is more important for her to look after them. Chief among her troubles is constipation, and her suffering will be serious when she gets older if she does not regulate her bowels now. Mrs. J. Charbonneau, 3410 Adam, Montreal, recommends Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to all her friends, and Mrs. Henry Joyce, Croton, Ont. says it is the best remedy for constipation she ever used.

Safe for Young and Old

Let mothers with growing daughters interest themselves in this matter and see that their judgment is enforced. A rule followed by many is to take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin once a week until the bowels function daily, and at such other times as there is headache, biliousness, sores and fever blisters, lack of energy and appetite, sleeplessness, indigestion.

A dose can be given in these conditions to any member of the family however young or old as Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a simple compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasing aromatics, and perfectly safe.

Public Recognizes Merit

You will quickly see the difference between a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin and castor oil, or rough cathartics and physics. Syrup Pepsin acts gently and does not gripe. Increased doses are not necessary. A bottle can be had at any drug store, and a spoonful costs less than a cent. It has been successfully used for thirty years and is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, over 10 million bottles having been sold in drug stores last year. Keep Laxative Syrup Pepsin in your medicine chest.

TELLS CALGARIANS ABOUT WESTERN ROUTE

Mr. A. C. Flumerfelt Outlines the Future of the Pacific Coast Grain Route

Extensive additions will be made this Summer to the plant of the International Coal Company, of Coleman, Alberta, according to a statement made a few days ago by the president, Mr. A. C. Flumerfelt, of Victoria, who, with Mr. H. J. Davis, solicitor for the company, is a visitor in Calgary.

Mr. Flumerfelt told one of the Calgary newspapers about general business conditions at the Coast, touching particularly on development of machinery for the rapid handling of Prairie grain shipped for export to Vancouver. The Western route had been proved, he said, and he believed the quantity of grain to be shipped via the Pacific Coast would grow year by year until it equalled and surpassed the quantity shipped over the older Eastern route. Efforts were proceeding to establish a cash market in Vancouver, he declared, and when plans were completed an added impetus would be given the Westward movement, as its operation would prove a direct saving to the grain growers of the Prairies.

The committees are working on the supposition that about 800 pupils and parents will assemble for the day. This will be the first affair of its kind held under the auspices of the Saanich Public Schools Athletic Association.

Music, Song and Mystery—At the New Thought Temple on Friday night there will be given a popular concert that should prove of interest to many. The school orchestra will render selections and will be assisted by the following well-known artists: Miss Isobel Taylor, Mrs. Georgina Watt, Mrs. W. H. Brown, Mr. Thomas Kelway, Mr. F. Brawn, Mr. Ivan Green, Mr. W. T. Thomas and Mr. G. H. Hallett. The concert is in aid of the piano fund.

Saanich Conservatives—The quickening up of interest in the campaign of the Saanich Conservatives in connection with the forthcoming Provincial election is noted by the calling of a meeting of Wards One and Three to be held at St. Luke's Hall, Cedar Hill, tomorrow (Thursday) at 8 p.m. The meeting is for the purpose of organization. On Friday evening Hon. T. G. Coventry, the Conservative candidate in Saanich, will address a public meeting in the Cloverdale School.

Open Malahat Again—The Malahat Highway will be opened to motor traffic next Friday afternoon, it was announced in the Department of Public Works yesterday. The road from Colwood to the Summit has now been treated with a sprinkling of asphaltic tar and the resulting surface is said to be smooth, hard and durable. Until the new surface has thoroughly set, which will take another week or two, motorists are recommended by the department to drive slowly from Goldstream to the Summit.

Anniversary Tea—The Hawthorne Circle of King's Daughters are holding a silver tea at the home of Miss Conyers, 1419 Fort Street (corner of Fort and Carberry Gardens) on Thursday afternoon from three to six o'clock. A splendid programme is being prepared by Miss Kathleen Roberts. The president of the Circle, Mrs. James Stewart, who organized the Circle, will be glad to welcome all members of the Order and their friends at the reunion and also help to make the twenty-fifth anniversary tea a success.

School Burned Down—The log school at Wisteria, Central British Columbia, in which Miss Jean Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Graham, of this city, was the teacher, was burned down several weeks ago. Miss Graham and her pupils were eating lunch outside when smoke warned them that the building was on fire. All the school books and other property were saved with the exception of a few desks, the blackboard, teachers' desks and book case. Other premises were arranged for with little delay.

Take No Action—The Oak Bay Council, at a short meeting last night, decided that it could not make any contribution this year towards the cost of a juvenile court in Greater Victoria, as its estimates for the year had been passed some time ago. The Council is not unanimous in favor of the court scheme, either. An application from Mrs. George Simpson requesting the use of tennis courts on Victoria Avenue for the holding of public dances was refused. A number of routine matters were also disposed of.

Oaklands Sunday School—The election of officers at the semi-annual meeting of the Oaklands Sunday School, held at the home of Mrs. Thompsett, Doncester Street, resulted as follows: Miss Kathleen Harte, president; Miss Winnie Bosence, vice-president; Miss Mary Crowe, secretary; Miss Emily Smith and Miss Helen Burton, social conveners; Miss Lenora Bridgewood, literary committee convener; Miss Marjorie Thompsett, missionery committee convener. After the meeting a birthday party was given in honor of the teacher, Mr. C. Hadland.

Dance at Strawberry Vale—Tomorrow night is the date set for the dance in Strawberry Vale Hall, under the auspices of the young ladies of that district. An enjoyable time is assured all those who attend, for this is the first dance held for some time at Strawberry Vale, and the committee is sparing no effort to make it one of the most enjoyable affairs ever held there. Novelty features and moonlight effects will add to the evening's fun, while Ray Kinloch's orchestra will supply the rhythmic inspiration. Tasty refreshments will be served during the evening by the ladies.

May Queen Ball—Under the auspices of the members of the city police force and the city firemen there will be a dance given on Friday evening in the recreation rooms of the police barracks. Dancing will continue from 8:30 to 11:30. The dance is given by these two organizations of the city in the interests of the City Hall candidate for Queen of State Miss Wormald. The floor of the hall is one of the best in the city and the two organizations under whose auspices the ball is being given have a reputation as entertainers. The public is invited to attend.

The Spaniards Open—Of interest to those touring the roads in the vicinity of the city will be the announcement made by Mr. John M. Langley, formerly chief of police in the city, that he has opened his refreshment place on the Island Highway, near Colwood. This is known as The Spaniards, perpetuating the name of the well-known Old Land resort. There will be served there tea and light refreshments, and it is the intention of the management later to add other attractions which will make the place one of the most attractive on the Island.

Jewelry Firm Moves—The well-known jewelry firm of Little & Taylor, which has been located at 617 Fort Street for the past fourteen years, has moved to more commodious premises at 1209 Douglas Street, in the Hayward Building. The concern will continue to carry the very best that can be obtained in jewelry, while the repair and other departments will be in an even still better position to accommodate the desires of the patrons of the establishment. Service and satisfaction predominates at Little & Taylor's, and the firm will live up to this reputation, as it has done so successfully in the past.

Lake Hill Queen Contest—The Lake Hill queen candidates will hold a reception and dance in the K. of P. Hall on the evening of May 15. The coronation of Miss Peirce, the successful queen, will take place in the Community Hall on Saturday morning, May 24, in time to allow the Saanich float to take part in the city parade. In the tombola drawing in connection with the queen contest, the winning tickets were: First prize, No. 632, yellow, J. Morris, Savannah Avenue; second, No. 1540, blue, holder unknown; third, No. 913, pink, E. M. Davison, Lake Hill; fourth, No. 22, yellow, Mr. Cooper, Swan Street; fifth, No. 1325, blue, M. B. Mercer.

Girls' Corner Club—The usual meeting of the Girls' Corner Club will be held tomorrow in the club rooms, Liberal Hall, Government and Broughton Streets. Supper for the convenience of business girls will be served at 6:15 p.m., and will be followed by a social time and singing by the club. Mrs. Wilkerson will be present and will give an address, and there will be singing and recitations by a number of girls from the Oriental Home. The class for voice culture will be held from 8 to 9. The members of this class have been asked to sing at the T.B. Ward, Jubilee Hospital, on Tuesday evening next. They are also preparing a programme for Mothers' Day, which will be given on May 22 in the club rooms.

Primrose Lodge—The regular meeting of Lodge Primrose, No. 33, of the Daughters and Maids of England was held in the Harmony Hall on Friday night, the Worthy President, Sister Harrison, in the chair. There was a good attendance of members and four new members were initiated. The results of the Primrose dance, together with a donation from the lodge, made up the sum of $25 for the Y.W.C.A. building fund. The next meeting should be on May 23, but as there will be be so much going on in the city, permission was received to dispense with a meeting on that night. It was decided to hold a dance on Friday evening, May 30, Sister Joyce being convener. The members spent a social time together after the meeting, refreshments being served.

Sooke Harbor Conservatives—A well attended and enthusiastic meeting took place on Saturday evening at the Sooke Hall, when Capt. John A. L. French occupied the chair at the annual meeting of the Sooke Harbor Conservative Association. Many new members' names were brought before the meeting and accepted. Mr. R. H. Pooley, who looked in for a short while, was accorded a very hearty welcome. He was called upon for an address and was given a unanimous vote of thanks upon its conclusion. He left early, as he stated that he did not wish to be present when delegates were chosen for the Nomination Convention. The following officers were elected for 1924-5: President, Capt. John A. L. French; vice-president John A. Murray, Esq., J.P.; secretary-treasurer, W. Miller Higgs; executive, Messrs. Curtis Muir, Henry Tice Fisher, George McIntosh and Alexander Campbell for Sooke, with Messrs. Alexander Gillespie and Thomas C. Oldershaw for East Sooke.

City Hall Activities in Brief

The City Council has been informed by the warden of the Provincial Penitentiary that a former inmate of the Old Men's Home here would be released on May 21, and wished to know what the city wished to do about him. The prisoner is ninety years of age. The Old Men's Home Committee and City Solicitor were given power to act in the matter.

The possibility of some of the inmates of the Children's Aid Home being placed in the Protestant Orphans' Home was raised by Alderman Sangster, when the Inter-Municipal Committee recommended the acceptance of T. Thirkell's tender for the repairing and improving of the Children's Aid Home for $3,996. The report was referred back to the committee to consult with the Orphans' Home and Children's Aid authorities to see if an agreement can be made for the Orphans' Home to take over other than delinquent children.

Dr. Arthur G. Price, City Medical Health Officer, reported that conditions at the Royal Athletic Park were insanitary, and he would later recommend the destruction of the large grand stand.

"It will be necessary on sanitary grounds to close up this park at once unless the representative of the owner cause it to be cleaned, repaired or remove the insanitary and unsafe structures which are at present there," reported the Health Officer, who has notified the owner's representative. The report was received and filed.

By a standing vote, the Council recorded its sympathy with Alderman Harvey on Monday in the recent death of his wife.

The Police Commission of Saanich has asked the city to prohibit perking on the west side of Quadra Street at the city limits, because of the fact that jitneys park on the east side at the sharp curve. The matter will be taken up with the Parking By-Law.

The steamers of the Admiral Line are not responsible for the presence of garbage at the Rithet Docks and along the beaches, Mr. W. M. Allan, local agent for the Pacific Steamship Company, informed the City Council Monday night. The denial followed a statement made by City Engineer Preston.

The city garbage was dumped from scows at any state of the tide, and in any weather, said Mr. Allan, and when the sea was rough, dumping would take place just beyond the breakwater, the garbage drifting to shore.

The garbage contractor should be called before the Council and told what was expected of him, said Alderman Todd. The City Engineer was asked to report.

City Clerk Bradley has resigned the secretaryship of the Cemetery Board, Alderman Marchant informed the Council, and on his recommendation consent was given to the plan to give the new secretary desk room at the City Hall.

Notice to Breeders of Livestock

Mr. Erick Bowman, the discoverer of The Bowman Remedy, claims that in treating 70,000 cattle in the United States, the results have been successful in 98% of the cases treated.

Are your dairy cows and heifers causing you trouble?
Are you obtaining results in calves and milk that satisfy you?
Do your cows (according to your knowledge of their capacity) produce as much milk as they should—or are you marking time and feeding a number of boarders that should be sent to the butcher?
These are matters that can be put right. Delays are fatal. Why not consult

FRUIT CANNERY ASSURED DUNCAN

ALL NECESSARY CAPITAL HAS NOW BEEN SECURED

Old Agricultural Hall Likely to Be Utilized— Plant Is to Be Developed When Possible

DUNCAN, May 13.—The required capital for a fruit canning plant in Duncan has now been raised, and a market for a considerable quantity of this year's local small fruit crop is thus assured.

The old Agricultural Hall will probably be utilized for the plant, and the selling organization of the Cowichan Creamery will be at the disposal of the new concern.

While the chief activity of the company will be in canning fruits, a certain amount of jam will also be put up. A large initial pack is not aimed at, but it is hoped that within a few years the enterprise will develop into an industry of great local importance.

It is said that next year the canning of peas, which grow to great perfection in the district, will be added to the output of the cannery.

Bishop Consecrates New Langford Church

LANGFORD, May 13.—An impressive service was conducted by the Rt. Rev. Charles D. Schofield, Bishop of British Columbia Sunday morning. The occasion was the consecration of St. Matthew's Church, which was set aside for the worship of God according to the rites of the Church of England in Canada. Loving hands had taken especial care the day before, in the decoration of the sacred building. On the organ and in every window, tulips, narcissus, pansies and lilac had been tastefully arranged. Picked tulips and narcissus filled the altar vases while the font had been beautifully decorated with large clusters of lilac.

The church was filled with worshippers, several of whom came from the neighboring parish of Metchosin and Albert Head, their service there having been cancelled for the occasion.

The Bishop, accompanied by the Rev. F. Comley, vicar of Metchosin, (acting chaplain), and the Ven. Archdeacon F. H. Graham, of Kootenay, were met at the main entrance of the church by the Rev. H. Pearson, vicar of the parish, and his churchwardens, Mr. R. F. Waddington and Mr. G. A. Heal. A petition for consecration was read by the Vicar, and after being accepted by the Bishop, the clergy, preceded by the churchwardens, proceeded along the aisle to the sanctuary, where the sentence of consecration was read and signed by the Bishop. Prayers for God's blessing on all the uses of the church were offered by the Bishop.

In his address to the congregation the Bishop urged upon those present the need of good workmanship in the building up of their lives after the pattern of the Lord Jesus Christ. He said that as the building had turned out to be a thing of beauty owing to the good workmanship and close following of the plans or pattern, so only by good workmanship and close following of the Great Pattern, could their lives be really all they ought to be.

The rite of confirmation followed the address, four candidates being presented by the vicar to the Bishop. A celebration of the Holy Communion followed the confirmation at which there were a large number of communicants. Appropriate hymns were sung. Mrs. Norman Brown presided at the organ.

Several very beautiful and useful gifts have been presented to St. Matthew's among them being the altar and very beautiful reredos with hangings from the rector and churchwardens and committee of St. John's, Victoria.

Corbett Case Witnesses Assembling at Nanaimo

COURTENAY, May 13. — Among those leaving town to attend the trial of Alfred Corbett at the criminal assize court opening at Nanaimo today are the coroner, Dr. T. L. Butters; Dr. Tillman Briggs, Chief of City Police R. Hornal, City Constable J. Cairns, Provincial Constable J. Russel, Messrs. Edward Mainwaring Joseph Orr, Eric Barlow, Harold Boomer and J. Pearson. Most of the witnesses went by car. Mrs. Daisy Simpson, one of the most important witnesses, left on yesterday morning's train.

BUSY BEES ENTERTAIN

LUXTON, May 13.—The Luxton Busy Bees, under the direction of Miss Kelly, entertained their mothers and friends at afternoon tea on Thursday afternoon. These preserving little people not only arranged the dainty tea party but also took part in the musical programme, singing a song in unison, taught by Miss Hawkeswood, of the Colwood School. Little Edna Lowrie, aged three years, delighted the audience with a song and dance, and was loudly encored. Mrs. Lowrie and Miss Graham, of Colwood, gave selections which proved popular. The proud mothers, when taking their departure, complimented Miss Kelly on her excellent work amongst the children.

RECEIVES PRESENTATION

DUNCAN, May 13.—At a meeting of the W. A. to the G. W. V. A., Mrs. M. L. Castle, who is leaving the district this week to take up her residence with her son in Evanston, Illinois, was presented with a handsome travelling bag in token of the esteem in which she is held by her fellow members. Mrs. Castle's two sons served overseas in the Great War, in which they were both wounded, and since the organization of the Women's Auxiliary, she has been an extremely active and valued member of the organization. Her departure from the district, after a residence of six years, will be much regretted in returned soldier circles.

HELPED BUILD FIRST JAMES BAY BRIDGE

Mr. John C. Bryant Dies in Nanaimo —Pioneer of Province From the Early Fifties

NANAIMO, May 13.—Mr. John C. Bryant, 93, one of Nanaimo's best known pioneers, passed away at his home, Newcastle Townsite, Monday morning.

The late Mr. Bryant first came out to British Columbia in 1852. In 1859 he worked on the construction of the James Bay bridge, Victoria, and also on the grading of Government Street in that city. He came to Nanaimo the same year. He secured employment in the old Dunsmuir slope and later worked in the Newcastle Mine. In 1860 he joined the rush to the Cariboo gold fields and spent ten years in the north country, including Cariboo, Cassiar and Omenica. He returned to Nanaimo in the early seventies and has resided here ever since, being for many years connected with the business of the Old Flag Inn.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Black Diamond Lodge, No. 5, of which the deceased was a charter member. He was the oldest Odd Fellow in British Columbia.

Hotel Employee Fined On Liquor Conviction

COURTENAY, May 13. — Before Magistrate Hames in the city police court here Saturday, John Johnston, night clerk at the Riverside Hotel, pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in a hotel, in other than a private guest room. He was fined $75 with costs.

HOSPITAL DONATIONS

SALT SPRING ISLAND, May 13.—Twenty-four patients were nursed at the Gulf Islands Hospital during April. There were six medical cases, six surgical, six obstetrical, and six infants. The number of hospital days was 191. Donations received during the month were from Mrs. Dean, apples; Mrs. Pater, trout; Mrs. Collins, flowers; Mrs. Copper, eggs; Miss A. Cartwright, flowers; Mr. Wright, sack of potatoes; Mr. Bittancourt, fruit, salmon and pickles; Mrs. James, cauliflowers; Mr. Grimmer, oranges; Mrs. Harvey, hot cross buns; Mrs. F. Scott, flowers; and Mrs. Hamilton, Pender Island, magazines.

NATIVE SON DIES

NANAIMO, May 13.—Mr. Edwin Benton, 36, a native son of Nanaimo, passed away at his home 645 Prideaux Street, on Saturday evening after a protracted illness. Besides his mother, Mrs. A. E. Benton, he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. J. D. Galloway, Mrs. A. T. Oliver and Mrs. F. Dawson, and three brothers, George, Ralph and Bramley, of Nanaimo.

The remains are reposing at D. J. Jenkins' parlors, and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

BERRY SEASON HERE

ROYAL OAK, May 13.—Warm rains and warmer sunshine have so encouraged the growth of all vegetation in this district that an unusually early fruit season is predicted. Strawberry plants, while not nearly their usual size, are covered with blossom, while berries of a small size are already developed. The larger fruits are set and gooseberries of unusual size are noted.

HUNDREDS VISIT TWO VICTORIA HOSPITALS

At Jubilee Main Point of Interest In New Building—At St. Joseph's It Was the Nursery

Hospital Day is becoming a habit. A big section of the public merely needs to be reminded of the annual event to be on the hospital steps at the appointed hour to enjoy every privilege made available for the gaining of information relevant to hospital administration. About fifteen hundred people must have visited the two local institutions of the kind on Monday. No previous Hospital Day here has been celebrated under such weather conditions and the advanced Spring was responsible for the unusual beauty of the flowers used to decorate corridors and wards, both at the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital and at St. Joseph's.

Mrs. H. K. Prior was convener of the Florence Nightingale Chapter's part in the day's entertainment, and Mrs. Catterall, regent, headed the reception committee which welcomed the seven or eight hundred guests who went over Jubilee Hospital during the afternoon. Mrs. H. R. McIntyre and Mrs. James Baker presided at the tea table, and Mrs. Prior and Mrs. Charles McAdam were responsible for the beautiful arrangement of flowers in all parts of the building.

Dr. Pearce, medical superintendent, Miss Jessie Mackenzie, lady superintendent, members of the Hospital Board and the nursing staff were all on hand to assist in the explanation of the work in the various departments.

St. Joseph's observance of Hospital Day was no less successful, and from 2 to 5 the place was crowded. The whole place was a riot of flowers.

St. Joseph's babies have always provided a special point of interest on this occasion, and yesterday the family was particularly noted owing to the visit of the Smith triplets, born in the hospital twelve years ago; and four sets of twins born in the hospital. There were in addition some twenty-five or thirty other babies, and the whole group was photographed, according to custom, on the east lawn.

Members of St. Joseph's alumnae association acted as guides, among those who served in this capacity being Mrs. J. M. Fowler, Mrs. A. C. Sinclair, Mrs. Walter Forde, Mrs. Gordon Evans, Mrs. Walter Miles, Miss Janet McEwen, Miss Knox and Miss Hessie Graham. The Sister Superior and Sisters of the hospital formed the reception committee to welcome the visitors, and under the convenership of Mrs. Alex. McDermott members of the Ladies' Auxiliary served delicious tea.

One of the enlivening features of the occasion was the music supplied by the band from the Indian Boys' Industrial School at Kuper Island, which played in the sunroom all afternoon.

No Jewels

Compare with pearly teeth

Combat that dingy film

There is a way to whiter teeth, to cleaner, safer teeth. Millions of homes have adopted it.

It means new beauty, new protection. This test will prove that to you. Make it now, watch the results, then decide if your folks should use it.

Teeth are clouded by a film

That viscous film you feel on teeth is their great enemy — the cause of most tooth troubles. Under old brushing methods, much of it clings and stays. Soon it becomes discolored, forming dingy coats. That is how teeth lose their beauty.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Few escape such troubles who do not fight the film.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Modern science has found ways to fight it. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

These methods have proved very effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists everywhere began to advise it, and the use quickly spread the world over.

No question when you see it act

Pepsodent results are quick and conspicuous. They leave no doubt.

It does more than fight film. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, which is there to neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the starch digestant in saliva, which is there to digest starch deposits on teeth.

These combined results give one a new conception of what clean teeth mean.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

You will always be glad that you made this test. Cut out coupon now.

Fete Takes Place This Afternoon At Hatley Park

The lovely grounds of Hatley Park, the residence of Mrs. James Dunsmuir, will be thrown open to the public for the only time this Summer this afternoon for a garden fete to be held under the auspices of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I. O. D. E., from 3 until 6 o'clock. This unique opportunity will be given the public through the kindness of Mrs. Dunsmuir, a member of the Chapter, and as the gardens are a blaze of color at this time it is anticipated a large number of guests will avail themselves of the pleasure of viewing the grounds. Tallyhos will leave 506 Government Street and the Library at times during the afternoon. Afternoon tea and ice cream will be obtainable, and many other attractions will be included in the fete.

SALT SPRING ISLAND

On Friday evening the Ganges Tennis Club held an enjoyable military whist drive at the house of Mrs. V. C. Best, kindly lent by her for the occasion. Seven tables took part, two of which tied for the prizes, but after playing off, the four winners were Dr. Sutherland, Miss Ingham, Mr. H. Robertshaw and Mr. A. J. Smith. After the prizes were presented, supper, provided by the committee and members, was served at the tables. Among those present were Rev. A. W. and Mrs. Colline, Dr. and Mrs. W. Sutherland, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Hailey, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Speed, Mrs. H. A. Robinson, Mrs. Cartwright, Miss Scott, Miss Beryl Scott, Mr. Ainslie Mr. H. W. Bullock, Mr. Weatherall, Messrs. H. and R. Price, Miss Frampton, Miss Di Crofton and Mr. King.

The Sunshine Guild held a sale of work at the Mahon Hall, Ganges, on Saturday afternoon, and cleared over $50. A stall of fancy and plain sewing was in the hands of Mrs. Dean and Mrs. Mount. Other stall were: Home cookery, Mrs. Parsons; plants and flowers, Mrs. S. Holmes; a surprise packet stall, Mrs. P. Beech, and candy stall, Mrs. Gavin Mouat. Tea served on tables in the hall were managed by Mrs. W. M. Mouat and helpers.

About 200 guests were present on Saturday evening at the Institute Hall, Fulford Harbor, where a fancy dress dance was held to raise funds towards stage fittings for the hall. The dance, organized by Mr. Percy Horel, proved a great success, and $36 was cleared after all expenses were paid. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Eaton, and the music was supplied by the local orchestra. The floral decorations were chiefly of dogwood.

There were some very pretty and attractive costumes seen among the dancers. The six prize winners were as follows: First lady, Mrs. Eaton (comic costume), "Yes, We Have No Bananas"; first gentleman (comic), Mr. T. Jackson, "A Lost Minstrel"; first lady (best costume), Mrs. J. N. Rogers, "Chinese Lady"; first gentleman (best costume), Mr. Kyle, "Jockey"; first girl, Miss I. Maxwell, "Egyptian"; first boy, A. Urquahart, "nigger lady."

Amongst others in fancy costume were, Mr. Percy Horel, Indian prince; Mr. Hepburn, Wrigley's cheming gum; Mr. Eaton, parson; Miss Hamilton, gypsy; Miss M. Hamilton, dominoes; Mrs. J. S. Jones, Spanish; Miss M. Hepburn, Turkish; Miss Aitkens, carnival; Mr. A. Stevens, toreador; Miss N. Johnson, Turkish; Miss J. Akerman, negress; Miss V. Hamilton, tennis; Miss B. Hamilton, old lady; Miss E. Rowland, Dresden shepherdess; Miss Shaw, maid; Miss G. Shaw, night; Miss C. Shaw, Red Riding Hood; Major Drummond, woman of the revolution; Miss Dolman, sailor boy; Mr. Jack Harrison, "Dutch Cleanser; Miss E. Jackson, superstition; Mr. R. Mollett, nigger, and Mr. J. Urquhart, nigger.

Mrs. Halley, of Ganges, left on Monday for Victoria, where she will spend a few days before going to Courtenay, where she will visit her son, Mr. K. S. Halley, for a few weeks.

Mrs. V. C. Best and Mr. Vincent Best, of Gangee, left by the Charmer on Monday for a few days' visit to Victoria.

The Ganges Tennis Club will hold its open tournament on Thursday, May 29, at "Barnsbury," instead of May 24, the date formerly arranged.

Miss I. Taylor, Mr. J. C. Scovell and Mr. A. Blackburn were among the passengers for Victoria from Gangee on Monday.

SAANICH

Complimenting her daughter, Mrs. J. Scott, of Chilliwack, Mrs. Gale, of Stelly's Cross Road, was a charming hostess at afternoon tea on Friday afternoon. The rooms and tea table were prettily decorated with Spring flowers and a pleasant time was spent. The guests were Mrs. McNally, Mrs. Hafer, Mrs. E. T. Lawrie, Miss McNaily, Mrs. W. Kersey and Miss P. Gale. Mrs. Scott left for home on Saturday afternoon.

The regular meeting of the Girls' Institute Club, of Keating, was held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Michell on Thursday afternoon, with the president, Miss L. Styan, in the chair. Tentative plans for a picnic to be held at some future date were made, and it was decided that card parties and concerts would not be undertaken by the junior members during the busy season of Summer. Refreshments were served by the hostess after the meeting had adjourned.

The South Saanich Women's Institute entertained at cards at the Temperance Hall, Keating, on Saturday evening. Eight tables were occupied with military 500, and the following persons won the prizes: Firats, Mrs. Mitchell, Miss M. Mitchell, Father Scheelan and Mr. Malcolm; consolations, Miss Ona Young, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. W. McNaily and Master Lee Styan. Mrs. Butler, Mrs. L. Young and Mrs. E. T. Lawrie, as hostesses, served refreshments at the close of the game, and an hour or more of dancing followed, the music being supplied by lady members of the club.

The regular monthly meeting of the Institute will take place on Thursday evening, when an interesting programme will be presented after the necessary business has been dealt with.

SALT SPRING ISLAND

Mrs. F. Corbett, accompanied by her son, arrived on the Island last week from Rugby, England, to spend the Summer at Ganges, guests at Harbor House.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Calthrop arrived last week from Victoria. They are guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. Lowther. Mr. Calthrop has taken the position of engineer on the rock crusher, which starts operation this week at Ganges.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Price and baby have returned to their home at Ganges after a week's visit to Mr. Price's mother at "Mereside."

Mr. Simpson, Mr. Richardson, Victoria, Mr. Bremner and Mr. Geo. West, Vancouver, were guests registered at Harbor House, Gangee, last week.

Col. and Mrs. Pugh, of Montreal, are guests for a month or two of Mr. and Mrs. Hoole, St. Mary's Lake, Salt Spring.

Miss K. Frampton, of Victoria, has arrived at Ganges, where she will be the guest for a few weeks of Mrs. V. C. Best.

CUMBERLAND

Mr. William Gordon, the local grocer, received word last week of the death, in Vancouver, of his brother, who met with an accident when his car collided with a four-ton truck. The injured man was rushed to the Vancouver General Hospital where he died soon after being admitted.

Lieut.-Col. Charles Villiers, general manager of the Canadian Collieries was a visitor to Cumberland over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. "Teddy" Jackson and family, accompanied by Mrs. J. T. Brown and family, returned to Cumberland during the past week after touring the State of Washington and visiting relatives in Seattle.

The children's fancy dress ball held on Friday evening under the auspices of the Pythian Sisters was a magnificent success, over one hundred and twenty children being in attendance, all in fancy costume. Some fine dresses were seen, and the many dances which the children went through were heartily applauded by the large crowd present. The children held the floor from seven until ten and during the evening ice cream was served to the little ones. There was a drawing for a basket of candy which realized a good sum. The adults held the floor from ten until early morning, a most enjoyable time being spent by all.

Miss Ida McFadyen, who underwent an operation in the local hospital recently, is making satisfactory steps towards recovery.

The Cumberland May queen contest is in its last week, and will close on Saturday. Several concerts, dances, house parties and novelty stunts are to be held this week and a whirlwind finish is being looked for by the many candidate managers. Miss Florence Sehi is still leading the contest, but is closely followed by Miss Fanny Strachan, the public school candidate.

SIDNEY

Mrs. T. Griffiths is receiving the sympathy of friends at the loss of her sister, Mrs. Welch, who died at Calgary last Wednesday. The late Mrs. Welch was well known in Sidney, as she visited Mrs. Griffiths last Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Edge, accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Vernen, and their small son Lemmie, of Vancouver, spent the week-end with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cowell, of Third Street.

Up to the present time three girls have been nominated for Queen for the Children's Sports Day, June 2. Miss Iris Goddard has been nominated by Mrs. B. Deacon, Miss Dulcie Brethour by Mrs. McNeill, and little Margaret Critchley by Mrs. Rankin. Further nominations will be in order up to Wednesday night.

Now for fun!

School's out, and now for romping play!

But in the course of play, young hands touch many things — sometimes dirty, grime-laden, and germ-covered. Disease germs lurk in all dirt and are carried from hands to face, to mouth and food.

What mothers must do

You cannot keep children from this ever-present disease-dirt. But you can, and should, do everything possible to prevent its serious effects.

Children need the rich, purifying lather of Lifebuoy with its wonderful health ingredient to godown deep into the pores and combat the germs ever present in dirt.

The health odour of Lifebuoy proves its antiseptic power.

GRAND MASQUERADE TO FOLLOW HOLIDAY

Citizens' Ball on May 23 Planned on Large Scale — Big Throng Expected

The culminating event of the first day's festivities of the Victoria Day celebration will be the citizens' grand masquerade ball. The dance committee has been hard at work for the last few weeks perfecting its arrangements for what will prove to be, the committee says, the finest ball held in Victoria. The committee has secured a store at 1410 Douglas Street and the prizes will be on view during the week. It is the intention of the dance committee to have one of their members at the store during the day, and up till 9 o'clock each evening. Tickets may be purchased for the ball there.

The decorations committee has its plans well under way and the Armories will present a colorful scene on the night of the ball. The music will be provided by Ozard's orchestra and the dancers will be assured the latest and best dance music. Card games will be held for the benefit of non-dancers, and in response to many requests military five hundred will be played.

The patronage accorded the citizens' ball bespeaks a huge success. Political, naval and military circles will be well represented and from reports of the management committee, the Armories will be packed to the doors with Victoria's citizens and visitors on pleasure bent. The catering will be a new departure from the methods in vogue and will ensure satisfaction to the tastes of all patrons. Tickets for the ball are on sale all over the city and can be obtained from the office of the dance committee, 62 Surrey Block, Phone 4926.

Shot in Self-Defence Is Verdict at Grand Forks

GRAND FORKS, B.C., May 13.—Believing his life to be in danger, R. A. Brown fired the shot which caused the death of Wm. Brown at the former's cabin here last Friday, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury. R. A. Brown, nearly eighty years old, is one of the best known prospectors on the continent. According to testimony given, Wm. Brown had felled the aged man with a club prior to the shooting.

Lucretia Lombard

A Story of Flaming Passion

By Kathleen Norris

CHAPTER XLII

When a Man Marries

"We love each other—if there is such a thing as love in the world. It made life over to me—

"Oh, Steve, wasn't myself enough? Wasn't it enough thet you were my world—that I longed for the hour that would have made me your wife, and I longed for the years ahead—all the years. God, I wonder why I have to suffer so."

In her mad moving about she had flung herself into a chair at the table. When she suddenly got to her feet and came back to the hearth the glory of the tawny-brown masses were loosened and tumbled back in a rich coil on her shoulders, giving an additional touch of tragedy and desperation to the blazing topaz eyes and the white face.

"Now you must go," she said in a dry voice and quietly. "You had better get hold of Fred the instant you reach the office, for Fred knows it all—about our having each other. I told him for several reasons. I wanted—what am I saying?" she broke off fretfully. My head aches so horribly. But I told him because he wes so sure that Mimi would marry you. He might say something to her today that would give her some clue."

"She would tell him of the marriage first," Stephen said in a dull tone. "I want you to know something about it, Lucretia. Bishop Reynolds is an old, old friend., I married her mother and mine. It came down unexpectedly last night from Boston; he goes back today. The opportunity—"

"I see," she said briefly and lightly. He realized that she wee almost exhausted. "You must go now. I may not see you again, so this is good-bye."

And quickly, with an air of insufferable pain, and blinded eyes, she pressed his hand. Something like a ghastly smile flickered on her face for a moment. She inclined her head. He heard her murmur that he could let himself out. A second later he heerd her address Hannah in the kitchen.

For a moment he stood still in this room of memories, feeling the bitter waters of his own evoking rise cold and bleak about him. No more Lucretia. No more tea beside the fire, with the exquisite voice and the flashing eyes giving themselves to him. No more notes—meetings—no more hope and joy. She was gone.

After a while—he did not know how long—he went downstairs.

The hot, dirty stret, with cheff and papers eddying on the sidewalk in the warm, erratic wind, wee a blank to him as he walked irresolutely to the corner, remembered that his own car was waiting and went back for it.

"Well, that's over," he said breathlessly. But the pain at his heart persisted, the frightful sense of something vital and beautiful killed.

"You must go now," Lucretia had said. "I may not see you again, so this is good-bye." The words came back to him, the accents of her marvellously moderated voice stabbing him with the finality of their tone.

"Anyway," said Stephen, after sitting motionless for an indefinite time at the wheel, "anyway, there was nothing else to do."

He drove away, although it wes almost a physical impossibility to look his last at St. Thomas', and his head ached stupidly in the mere effort to recall the events of the last forty-eight hours and the motives that prompted them.

An hour or two ago they hed all been in his uncle's room—Mimi in the blue silk dress—Aunt Bessy sniffing and glancing about in the heat to be sure the windows were open just as the Bishop's finished voice began with:

"We are gathered together. . . ."

Mimi had taken off her hat before this and smoothed the derk heir that had been roughened by the quiet trip with Stephen to the City Hall and to the jeweler's shop. Her first act as a married woman had been to lay her face against the Judge's emaciated old hand and cry a little through her brave smile. Then she hed kissed him and received a gallant salute from the old Bishop upon her flushed cheek, and then had followed kisses for Aunt Betsy and Mrs. Porter, the only other witnesses to the ceremony, since Fred was so mysteriously absent.

Everyone had cried. There had been low laughter and murmuring. They had all gone out into the wide, airy hall, where Stephen caught his wife and twisted her about for his first kiss.

"Look here, don't I get anything?" "Oh, you—. But you know what I think of you."

But Mimi had kissed him frenkly, childishly, none the less, before going into tremendously important questions regarding clothes, and Marjorie and notes to friends, and a thousand other details deliciously exhilarating and exciting.

"I ought to go up to Red Pine if we're really going to New York," she had said; "my fitted case is there and my lovely umbrella and my best hat. But never mind—"

"We can get another hat," Stephen had assured her. And then, when they were all downstairs and the possibility of their voices reaching the sick room was removed. "Do you think we'd better go?" Stephen had asked his aunt tenderly. And with brimming eyes Mrs. Curran had answered.

"Oh, Steve, I don't know as you had better. He's getting so weak."

"You have the consolation, Mery, of having made him very happy," the Bishop had reminded Mimi.

"I'll tell you what we'll do, dear," Stephen had decided. I'll run down to the office now and attend to one or two matters and see if there is any word from Fred."

"I don't understand Fred," Mrs. Curran had moaned faintly.

Mrs. W. R. Wingfield Digby left on Thursday with her son Donald for a trip to England.

Mr. Charley Durant, Government log scaler, of Port Alberni, was in town last week on business.

Judge Barker and Mr. Bob Hindmarsh, of Nanaimo, were in town last week on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nuttell are spending a week's holiday in Victoria and Vancouver.

Miss Constance Pollock, of Nanaimo, paid a visit to her sister, Mrs. C. P. MacDonald, last week.

Mr., Mrs. and Miss Park have moved to their new place on Fym Road.

NANOOSE BAY

Miss Margaret Thompson, of Nenaimo, who has been visiting Mrs. F. Barrie, Powder Place, has returned home.

Mrs. C. W. McLean, of Vancouver, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. M. J. Williams at Nanoose Bay.

Mrs. S. G. Clarke, who received an injury to her foot at Nanaimo last week, is at the home of her mother, Mrs. Doran, Nicol Street, Nanaimo.

Mr. W. Bailey, of Powder Point, is a patient in the hospitel at Nanaimo.

Mr. Fred Cross and daughter, Irene, left on Saturday for Montreal, from where they will sail on May 13 on SS. Montrose for England. They are going to visit relatives at Windermere and expect to be away six months. While in England they will visit the exhibition at Wembley Park. Mr. Cross and sons, Ronald and Jackie, accompanied them as far as Vancouver.

Mrs. Ernest Collins entertained at the tea hour on Wednesday, when her guests were: Mrs. Harold Park, Mrs. J. Doren, Mrs. N. Dickinson and Mrs. C. Wood.

Happier, Healthier Women

By thousands are known to exist in this country because they have been relieved from pain and suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Science in surgery and electricity have advanced greatly during the past fifty years, but treatment of disease by old-fashioned root and herb medicines has never been improved upon. The leader of them all is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which after fifty years of success is today recognized as the standard remedy for female ills and sold everywhere for that purpose. Replies to a questionnaire recently sent out to 58,000 women by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Cobourg, Ont., proved that it benefits 93 out of every 100 women who try it. Isn't this a marvelous record for any medicine to hold? (Advt.)

MISS LILYAN CHARLEBOIS
Certificated X-Ray Technician of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Prior to her departure for England Mrs. Fred Cross was hostess at a delightful luncheon on Tuesday in compliment to a recent bride, Mrs. Wm. McIntosh. The guests were Mrs. G. L. Webster, Mrs. R. L. Mytton, Mrs. William McIntosh, Mrs. A. Guenlette, Mrs. Holt, Mrs. Harold Park and Mrs. Norman Dickinson.

On Thursday afternoon the home of Mrs. M. J. Williams, Island Highway, was the scene of an afternoon musicale given by the Ladies' Aid of the Nenoose Bay Church. There was a large crowd of ladies present, about sixty in number. A good programme of music was carried out, the artists taking part being Mrs. A. McKenzie, Mrs. C. W. McLean, of Vancouver; Mrs. Dora Salmon, of Wellington; Mrs. D. B. Edgell, of Nanaimo, and Mrs. Walter Thatcher. Mrs. McKenzie sang "The Rosary" with great feeling. Mrs. McLean was in fine voice and gave two selections. The violin, played by Mrs. Salmon, was much enjoyed, and Mrs. Walter Thatcher pleased her audience with two beautiful songs. Mrs. D. B. Edgell gave beautiful renderings of her songs. Mrs. McLean and Mrs. L. Roscoe acted as very able accompanists. The musical programme was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Campbell Brown, of Wellington, gave a short talk on Ladies' Aid work and interested her listeners in an account of her experience with Chinese women while working as a missionary among them. Refreshments were served, those assisting in this being Mrs. H. Marks, Mrs. J. Williams, Mrs. D. Ford, Mrs. I. Corlett, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. L. Roscoe.

Among those present were Mrs. W. Pendleton, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. A. Marlott, Mrs. Davies, Mrs. M. J. Williams, Mrs. J. Williams, Mrs. A. Quenlette, Mrs. Holt, Mrs. L. Roscoe, Mrs. Koller, Mrs. C. Hardy, Mrs. Balderston, Miss G. Balderston, Miss Dora Salmon, Mrs. Agnes Ferguson, Mrs. W. Thatcher, Mrs. Beer, Mrs. A. Scott, Mrs. F. Barrie, Mrs. H. Park, Mrs. N. Dickinson, Mrs. E. Collins, Mrs. C. Wood, Mrs. S. McPhee, Mrs. H. Devonshire, Mrs. G. L. Webster, Mrs. R. L. Mytton, Mrs. W. McLeod, Mrs. F. Burdette, Mrs. C. McLean, Mrs. A. McKenzie, Mrs. Dendoff, Mrs. J. Dendoff, Mrs. I. Corlett, Mrs. F. Sherwood, Mrs. D. Ford, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Glaholm, Mrs. W. Glaholm, Mrs. D. B. Egdell, Miss N. Stevenson, Mrs. Joe Booth, Mrs. F. Wall, Mrs. E. Brown, Mrs. R. Flora, Mrs. J. Roberts and others.

GIRLS' SUMMER CAMP TO BE AT SHAWNIGAN

"Y" Mekes Elaborate Plans For Summer Holiday Rendezvous

Glowing accounts of the Summer camp which is being opened on May 21 by the Y. W. C. A. at "Cedarcliffe," Shawnigen Lake, were given at the meeting of association committees at the "Y" yesterday morning. Mrs. Mitchell, the convener of the camp committee, outlined the arrangements that had been made already for this Summer hostel, and all indications are that girls who spend a holiday there will have every possible advantage in the way of scenery, fresh air and wholesome food to bring them back much benefited. The attractions at the camp will include boating and swimming. A very competent camp-mother has been secured, and the desideratum of home cooking is assured. "Cedarcliffe" is five minutes' walk from Strathcona Lodge, overlooking the Lake.

The building committee also met yeterday at the association headquarters to further plans for the proposed new building. Those present included Mrs. George Piercy, preaident of the Young Women's Christian Association; Miss Agnew, chairman of the building fund; Mrs. Beckwith, Mrs. Nivin, Mrs. McNaughton, Mrs. Colpman, Mrs. Hobson, Mrs. Coffin, Mrs. Plaskett and Mrs. Bishop.

The committee appreciated very much the help given by the various women's societies in Victoria, and was grateful also for the individual donations.

ANNIVERSARY BANQUET TO HONOR DR. M'COY

Ladies' Aid of Knox Church Entertains at Function Celebrating 30th Year of Incumbency

Celebrating the forty-fifth anniversary of his entry into the ministry and the twentieth yeer of his incumbency at Knox Presbyterian Church a banquet was tendered Rev. Dr. McCoy on Monday evening at Knox Church by the members of the Ladies' Aid of that church. One hundred and fifty members of the congregation and interested friends assembled at the banquet and a delightful evening was spent by all.

The supper table was charmingly decorated and no detail which the hostesses could have included in their arrangements for the pleasure of the guests had been overlooked.

Numerous toasts were proposed and responded to, including the toast to the King, proposed by Mr. Innes MacDougall; to the Church, proposed by Mr. Jameson and responded to by Rev. Mr. Smith Patterson, of St. Paul's Church, Victoria West; to Rev. Dr. and Mrs. McCoy, proposed by Mr. F. T. Miller and acknowledged by Rev. Dr. McCoy; to the Guests, proposed by Mrs. Jameson and responded to by Rev. Smith Patterson and Dr. Ernest Hall. Rev. Mr. Jones, of the Yukon, proposed the health of the ladies, which was responded to by Mrs. F. W. Laing; to the choir, proposed by Mrs. McCoy and responded to by Mr. Lawton Partington; to the Sunday School, proposed by Mr. Partington and responded to by Mr. W. C. Wilson, in humerous vein, and by Rev. Dr. Campbell; to the Hostesses, proposed by Mr. F. W. Laing and responded to by Mrs. A. F. Huxtable, president of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Mr. Huxtable, having the honor of being the member of longest standing on the church roll, officiated as cheirman.

Following supper, several solos were artistically rendered by Miss Isabel Crawford, Mrs. Ruther Wilson, Mrs. Smith Patterson and Mr. F. J. Mitchell, bringing a delightful function to a close.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS MEET

A meeting of the Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post No. 3, was held last evening in the K. of P. Hall, Mrs. Brentsen in the chair. Arrangements were made in connection with the float which the members intend putting in the Victoria Day Celebration parade with the Native Sons. Four members of the latter lodge promised their assistance and co-operation.

The next meeting will be initiation night, when several new members will be admitted into the lodge, and the following meeting will be the annual session for the year.

Votes of thanks were accorded members who had so generously assisted with the Grand Post meeting held here last week.

To propitiate their god, thousands of Chinese pilgrims annually climb Hwa Shan, a sacred mountain, 6,000 feet high.

NEWS OF THE SPORTING WORLD

Everything Set for Ball League Opening

Tillicums and Automotives All Primed and Eager for the Fray on Saturday Next at Royal Athletic Park—Mayor Hayward in Good Form for Doing His Stuff as Catcher of Tom Davidson's Fast One

EVERYTHING is in readiness for the opening of the Victoria Amateur Baseball League, which will get under way at the Royal Athletic Park next Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the Tillicums and Automotives face each other in the initial encounter of the year. The grounds and grandstand of the park are being rapidly put into shape for the bumper crowd which is expected to be on hand when Umpire "Allie" McGregor calls on the teams to "play ball."

Tom Davidson, of Vancouver, president of the B.C. Amateur Baseball Association, will be on the mound to do the hurling of the first ball, with Mayor Hayward at the receiving end, and Walter Lorimer, veteran manager of many of Victoria's baseball teams, trying to knock the ball out of the lot. It is rumored that His Worship and Mr. Lorimer have been out practising with a number of ball teams that may be seen working out in the vacant lots, trying to get into shape for the big day, and from reports the Mayor has his peg to second down pat and Walter is hitting them out like Babe Ruth.

Practising Hard

The rivals for the opening fixture have been out practising hard for the last three weeks and are all rarin' to go. The Automotives' line-up will include some of Victoria's snappiest ball players and they are confident that they will be able to take their opponents into camp. The Tillicums, though commencing with some of the younger players of last year's Commercial League, have a fast bunch of ball players and are equally confident that they will be able to win their first match.

Victoria fans will have an opportunity of seeing the Port Angeles ball team in action here on May 24. This will be the first exhibition game of the year and should provide a good feature for the holiday. The Port Angeles clubs opened their season about two weeks ago and have some fast teams. Baseball fans will remember some of the close games that have been played here during the last few years with that city and particularly the match when the Elks and Port Angeles met three years ago and battled to a "eleven-innings 2-2 draw. It is the intention of the league officials to have as many outside teams as possible perform here this year in order to brighten up the brand of ball, and fans should see some good fast play. Although no definite line-up has been given out it is understood that the locals will play under the colors of the C.P.R.

In order to have as many as possible attend the opening of the league the officials have decided that the admission to all games will be the nominal sum of 25 cents, with all children admitted free.

Victoria Tennis Club's Grass Courts to Open For Play On Saturday

The grass courts of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club will be opened for play on Saturday afternoon next, the formal opening of the courts taking place the following Saturday, May 24, when it is hoped the members of the club generally will be present.

Tea will be served on the pavilion and interesting matches will be arranged for the entire afternoon. The club is looking forward to a very busy season, with a number of tournaments, club matches, etc. A considerable number of new members has been admitted, but there are still vacancies in all the classes, viz: non-playing, juniors (boys and girls under 17), active playing members, ladies and gentlemen. Full information can be obtained upon application to Mr. J. G. Brown, secretary, P.O. Box 1202, city.

CHESTER VASE IS WON BY INKERMAN

LONDON, May 13.—Reid Walker's four-year-old colt Inkerman, the odds-on-favorite, was an easy winner of the Chester Vase, the feature event of the opening day of the Chester meeting this afternoon. Anthony D. Rothschild's three-year-old colt, Arcade, finished second, beaten by two lengths, with the Duke of Westminster's Friar, the only other starter, finishing a poor third, beaten by eight lengths.

Miss Suzanne Lenglen Is Ill With Jaundice

PARIS, May 13.—Suzanne Lenglen is confined to her bed with a slight attack of jaundice, according to the Nice correspondent of L'Auto, who says it is possible the tennis star will be unable to come to Paris to defend her titles.

WEDNESDAY CRICKET

Two League Matches to Be Played Today at Mt. Tolmie and Jubilee Ground

Two Wednesday League cricket matches are to be played here today. Tillicums play the University School at Mount Tolmie, and Hudson's Bays play Cranleigh House School at the Jubilee Hospital.

The following Tillicum players are requested to be at the University School grounds at 3:15 Wednesday. This game has been changed from the Beacon Hill ground because of unseen difficulties at the last minute: Fletcher, Pendray, Heinekey, Smith, Biss, Waggett, Johnson, Payne, Wilkinson, Towers and Ackroyd; reserve, Donaldson.

The Cranleigh House team vs. Hudson's Bay at Jubilee Hospital will be: Costerton, Martin, Hayes, Wainman I, Wainman II, Husband, Sparks, Hewitt, Copas, Cull and Milton.

The boys are keen to add two more points today and go to the top. While Sparks did most of the damage last week, every boy handled the bat well, Martin especially doing good work at a critical time. He and Costerton are both useful with the ball. Copas, better known to football and baseball fans, is making his debut as a cricketer, and he has a safe pair of hands; in fact the whole team fields well and keenly and hope to give the Boys a stiff trial.

GEORGES WILL MEET TOM GIBBONS FIRST

Carpentier Escapes the Legal Net Spread for Him By Billy Gibson —Making for Chicago

NEW YORK, May 13.—An attempt to block the Georges Carpentier-Tom Gibbons match at Michigan City on May 31, and compel Carpentier to abide by an alleged agreement to make his first American ring appearance against Gene Tunney, was frustrated late today when the Frenchman and his manager, Descamps, eluded Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, and the latter's legal forces. He is now en route to Chicago to fulfill his engagement to meet Gibbons, of St. Paul, in Michigan City, Ind., May 31, according to word received from Jack Curley, Carpentier's American representative.

Junior Football Champions of the Province

Nanaimo South End United association football team, winners of the O. B. Allen Cup for the junior championship of British Columbia for this season. In addition this team has won the Forrimer Cup for the Mid-Island junior district and the O. G. Ingram Cup. They have lost but one game and have won six and drawn three, have scored 21 goals against their opponents and had 7 scored against them. The boys in the picture who have made this fine record are, reading from left to right: Top row, Bob Elgie, T. Terry, T. Sandiland, R. Hencock, S. Taft, V. Shephard, J. Spruston, G. Tippett, S. Tippett, W. Heacock and T. Bentley; middle row, C. Reece, S. Devlin, C. Cortney, J. McCourt and L. Sandiland; bottom row, H. Crellan, G. Wyse, V. Wilson, J. Sandiland and T. Dawson.

POLO CLUB NOW SHOWS PROGRESS

PRACTICE WILL BE CARRIED OUT AT WILLOWS

Play Will Commence in About Three Weeks in Newly-Formed Polo Club—Membership Open

Though still in its infancy, the Victoria Polo Club is gradually coming to the front. Formed last Winter, the club is doing everything in its power to bring polo to the front in the sporting events of this city. The officers of the club for the present season are as follows: Honorary president, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia; president, Colonel Commandant (Honorary Brig.-Gen.) J. M. Ross, C.M.G., D.S.O., D.O.C. M.D. No. 11; vice-president, Lieut.-Col. (Honorary Brigadier-General) R. P. Clark, C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C.; committee, Lieut.-Col. (Honorary Brigadier-General) R. P. Clark, C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C.; Col. C. C. Bennett, D.S.O.; Lieut.-Col. H. C. Greer, A.A.G. and Q.M.G., M.D. No. 11((chairman); Lieut.-Col. F. H. M. Codville, M.C., P.P.C.L.I.; Lieut. Watson, R.C.N.; Capt. W. C. Proby, Mr. F. Pemberton, Mr. W. Johnston, Lieut. B. Carley, Mr. J. McCleave, Lieut. M. J. Joyce, R.C.A.S.C. (secretary-treasurer).

A great deal has been accomplished, and it is only a matter of a few weeks before actual play will commence at the Willows. The club has sixteen ponies at its disposal, and these are now in the process of being schooled and made handy. During the next two weeks ponies and players are being schooled three evenings a week at the Victoria Riding Academy at the Willows, on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays at 7 o'clock. All members wishing to take advantage of this "brush up" are requested to be present on the nights mentioned.

Playing membership is fixed at $10, and non-playing membership at $5 for the season. Ladies are welcomed as playing members. These fees are to defray the cost of balls, upkeep of ground, ground equipment and other incidentals of the club. Tickets may be obtained from any of the committee, or from the secretary, Lieut. Joyce, R.C.A.S.C., Work Point Barracks, phone 990.

Polo will be played at the Willows in the space within the race track three days a week. The actual days of play will be settled later. Arrangements have been made by the club to provide ponies for members, complete and turned out ready for play. Non-playing members are entitled to all the privileges of the club, and are entitled to free admission to all club fixtures and matches. At any time a non-playing member may become a playing member.

Polo is played on a ground 250 yards by 160 yards, four players on each side. The side making the greater number of goals wins. Goals are eight yards wide and 250 yardd apart. Generally speaking, the rules of play are much the same as football (Association) or hockey. Practice games may be played with three aside. When young ponies are being schooled or new players are learning the game, slow games are arranged, and players are restricted as to speed, usually a slow canter. During slow games an experienced player will be detailed to play on each side to coach the young players, and to enforce rules for their safety.

The University of Alberta senior girls' basketball team will play against the local Fidelis girls, British Columbia champions, here on Thursday evening, May 22, at 8:30 p.m.

TILDEN MAY RETURN TO DAVIS CUP TEAM

Rival Factions Appear Pleased at Prospect of Early Settlement of Player-Writer Controversy

NEW YORK, May 13.—A speedy solution of the tennis player-writer issue that has revolved for the past few weeks about the racquet and pen of America's national champion, William T. Tilden, was predicted tonight by both sides to the controversy.

A feeling of satisfaction in both camps followed the action of President George W. Wightman in paving the way for a special meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association to reconsider the whole player-writer question. This step preceded publication of a statement by Tilden asserting his readiness to abide by the decision of such a special meeting, and adding that, on the day it is called, he will withdraw his resignation from the American Davis team.

Sportive Punches

By the "Old 'Un"

Among those who think that professional lawn tennis may be made a success is "LITTLE" BILL JOHNSTON, world's champion. He claims to have seen it coming for a long time and, what is more, he doesn't seem to see anything deplorable about it.

* * * * * *

He says there is no reason why it should mean war with the United States Lawn Tennis Association if a separate professional body were formed in his country.

* * * * * *

He points, very reasonably, to the example of golf, in which game the professionals give exhibitions at the clubs and even play with the amateurs in open tournaments. The same thing might, as he very sensibly remarks, be done in tennis.

* * * * * *

And Johnston is probably one of the straightest and strictest amateurs in America today.

* * * * * *

He admits that he might possibly turn pro IF the offers were made sufficiently tempting, but obviously he loves the game for its own sake and has never allowed his principles to be overcome by accepting money for the use of his name.

* * * * * *

"Business is business," says "Little Bill," "and tennis is a sport. My business is insurance and tennis is my recreation."

* * * * * *

BOBBY JONES, the United States' youthful open golf champion, is another real amateur.

* * * * * *

It is said that he has turned down an offer of $15,000 a year from a Wall Street bond-selling house, and is contenting himself with starting at the bottom of the business ladder by collecting rents for a real estate company.

* * * * * *

A most important discovery was made in Vancouver one day last week, none other than the missing records of the early days of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association.

* * * * * *

And a remarkable thing about it was that they were discovered through the meeting of the present secretary with the first president of the association, Mr. C. B. Stahlschmidt, who had them all the time in his possession, according to the story.

* * * * * *

What was so remarkable was that in the meantime the aforesaid first president, after being an enthusiastic golfer back in 1899, when he was elected, had DROPPED OUT OF THE GAME!

* * * * * *

A sign of the changing of the times is given by the following extract from a letter inviting the SEATTLE golfers to a tournament in VICTORIA. It runs thusly:

* * * * * *

"The bishop has not yet seen our programme, but we are not going to advertise Good Friday prominently, so it may escape His Lordship's notice."

* * * * * *

Before the Willa-Bartley Madden bout was due to take place we were told that it might have to be postponed on account of fire risk until alterations had been made.

* * * * * *

When it actually was postponed it was on account of the other element, water—in the form of rain—according to the telegraph.

* * * * * *

When it does come off is not very important. Madden has no chance to beat a man half a hundredweight heavier than himself, and it SHOULD hardly be a good workout for WILLS.

* * * * * *

Verily the modern prize ring is a great show business!

PREPARING PROTEST

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Nationals are filing a protest against Victoria Veterans being allowed to go into the second round of the Connaught Soccer Cup, it is announced. The Nationals claim that the goal posts were not the proper size; that they were accorded unfair treatment by the Islanders, and that the winning goal should never have been allowed. Secretary Jim Armstrong, B.C.F.A., awaits the protest fee and the protest in writing.

Nanaimo Golf Team Wins by One Point From Duncan Players

COMMERCIAL BALL LEAGUE ASSURED

THREE TEAMS ARE ENTERED THIS YEAR'S RACE

Last Year's Champions Will Not Enter—Schedule to Be Drawn Up Saturday

At the regular meeting of the Victoria and District Commercial Baseball League, held on Tuesday night, it was decided to carry on the league as in the past years. Three teams—Spencers', last year's runners-up; Sidney and the Pirates, have signified their intentions of having teams, and a fourth, from the Hudson's Bay, is expected to be entered.

Last year's champions of the league, the Native Sons, will not be seen in this season's loop, as most of their players have joined senior company. The Sons made a great showing last year, and had only one loss out of their entire schedule. Spencer's, the only team to hand the Sons a trimming, will be stronger than ever this year, and expect to romp home with the silverware. Several new men have been signed on, and the team is out practising at every opportunity.

The Sidney nine will be considerably strengthened this year, and are living in hopes of bringing another championship to the town. They got away to a bad start last year owing to a number of their team leaving town, but several new players are living there now, and they intend to make a showing from the start of the schedule.

Last year's junior champions, the Pirates, form the third team to signify its intention of entering the race. The Pirates fielded a snappy nine last year in the junior league, and have practically the same players to open the league.

The following are the officers who were elected at the meeting: Mr. A. Pike, re-elected president; Mr. W. Hill, of Sidney, vice-president; Mr. J. Post, secretary-treasurer. The schedule for the year will be drawn up next Saturday night at the meeting, which will be held in the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock.

CUMBERLAND UNITED DEFEAT VETERANS

Score Six to Nothing in Up-Island Soccer Game—Now Meet Nanaimo in Final

CUMBERLAND, May 12. — The Cumberland United football team entered the final of the May 24 competition at Nanaimo by defeating the Veterans of the Hub City on Wednesday afternoon last by a score of six goals to nothing. The locals now meet the Nanaimo City team on the "Twenty-Fourth" in the final, for which a $200 prize is offered. Saturday, May 17, the locals meet the Kerrisdale team, of Vancouver, in the Connaught Cup series. The game will be played in the Terminal City.

The Amateur Question

Should one who stars in any game
Turn in and write about the same?

I mean, of course, to write for pay
That might depend upon his play?

And if he finds he plays too well
So that he has more stuff to sell,

I wonder how much extra dough
It takes to make a man a pro?

Here is the answer in one shot—
What other business has he got?

And does he do that job as well
As some game he may play, or sell?

Stribling's Ultimate Destination

How far, along the pugilistic highway, will Billy Stribling make his way? Here is a nineteen-year-old boy, close upon six feet, verging on 170 pounds, with speed, skill, brains and courage. Also experience. That should be enough to insure championship rating by the time he is twenty-one, twenty-two or twenty-three.

In three or four years he should put on fifteen to eighteen pounds and develop both in power and skill.

But there are two questions to be considered:

1. Will he be overworked, overboxed and possibly burnt out with the vital spark reduced before he is twenty-three?

2. Will he come into the kingdom of the punch—fall heir to the wallop?

If Stribling isn't forced at too fast a clip, and if he can be taught to hit, he has it in him to wear the crown of the heavyweight ruler before he is twenty-four.

Punching Essentials

Can hard hitting be taught? There are three foundations for punching greatness. They are leverage, balance and timing. Leverage includes the elasticity of snap. Elastic qualities must be there to start with. Balance and timing can be taught.

Fitzsimmons and Dempsey head the class in leverage. Fitz had it to spare. So has Dempsey. Both have known the principles of balance and timing.

Stribling has the build for leverage, whether he has the leverage or not. He is long and sinewy and wiry. The present flaw in his timing is that he hits too quickly—tightening up before the moment of impact.

He lacks the "follow through" of Dempsey, or Firpo, whose punches are gathering speed at the moment of impact, rather than gathering speed too far in advance.

The Old Fault

The main human fault in hitting a baseball, golf ball or tennis ball is to tighten the grip and wrists too soon—just before the ball is hit.

The same fault is true of the average boxer—of most boxers. They swing and tighten the wrist muscles, in place of swinging on through. This is well enough for the jabber in boxing; for the place hitter in baseball.

But it doesn't manufacture knock-out or home runs. Fist or bat or clubhead must be just reaching its greatest speed at the split-second of impact, on its way through the object, to produce the big crash.

* * * * * *

The main idea is to hit THROUGH the object—not to hit AT it. This is true to an equal extent of baseball, boxing and golf. You can't hit through a jawbone or a stomach, but when the principle is applied the recipient usually thinks you have, as he rests in the resin and hears far off the musical twitter and chirping of the larks that sing in poppyland.

The Championship Chance

Billy Stribling has a great chance. He is a fine looking youngster with an alert, intelligent face—clean, and so far unspoiled.

He knows a lot about boxing for a nineteen-year-old boy. He is a first-class sportsman, trained and directed by a sportsman who is Stribling Senior.

The quality of leverage must be born in a hitter before he can be made a hitter.

* * * * * *

If Stribling has this quality he can be taught timing—as Dempsey was taught.

It is much harder to do any timing against a fast man. This is why Dempsey has always had much more success against the big, slow moving types than he has had against the Meehan and the Gibbons class. When the target is constantly shifting, moving in and out, timing is partly chance. But chance is eliminated when a Dempsey can set himself to let fly at a Willard, Fulton, Carl Morris or Firpo.

Rickard May Take Over Wills-Madden Fight

NEW YORK, May 13.—In the event of the Queensboro Athletic Club being unable to obtain a licence to conduct the Wills-Madden bout in its Long Island City Stadium on Friday night, the heavyweight encounter will be staged in either the Velodrome A.C., in New York city, or the National Sportsman's Club, in Newark, N.J. Tex Rickard, who promotes matches in the Velodrome, today offered to take the fight for which the officials of the Queensboro A.C. were refused a licence by the State Athletic Commission.

Decision will be announced tomorrow.

Letters to the Editor

To the Sporting Editor—

Re National Sporting Club of Victoria, corner of Government and Yates Streets.

To the Press and Charter Members:

Your club rooms will be thrown open on Thursday noon, 15th inst., and kept open until 10 p.m., for your inspection. I also invite the general public to join with you and give their opinion. And I feel sure you will come to the conclusion that I have fulfilled my promise to these citizens who were good enough to become charter members of our Sporting Academy, where the youth of our Province will be able to learn the manly art of self-defence from a past master of the art (both with gloves under the Marquis of Queensberry rules and under the old brutal London prize ring rules), having made history for the overseas possessions of the Empire when there was but one Dominion flying the good old flag of freedom, the Union Jack. More than thirty-five years ago I fought the last bare-knuckle fight on December 28, 1889, in Bruges, Belgium, when the colonists were looked upon by the ring followers of Britain as foreigners, and they showed it in their spite and treatment they handed out to me on that morning. The first son of this now-glorious British Empire to tackle the lion at his own game with bare fists, then called the "raw ones," their favorite sport of prize fighting, under the prize ring rules, where the strongest side won, not the best man.

As it is today, under the Marquis of Queensberry rules, with the gloved hands, it is the finest kind of exercise and training for the youth of the Province.

Now, citizens, the club will be opened for classes on Tuesday, 27th inst., and kept open from 10 a.m. until 12 o'clock noon, afternoons from 2 until 5, and 8 until 10 daily, except Sundays. There will be two shows a month at the club rooms, one for amateurs and one for professionals' bouts. I will always stage a main-liner of 10 rounds between the best men obtainable for the amusement of the members and the public.

Charter members will enter by the Yates Street entrance, and general admission by the Government Street entrance. For further particulars re cost of tuition and club fees see the daily papers in the advertising columns. For further particulars apply by letter to the instructor at the club rooms, 1138 Government Street, Victoria.

FRANK P. SLAVIN,
Instructor and manager, National Sporting Club.

P.S.—There will be a meeting of charter members and those who wish to become members at the board rooms, 116-17-18 Pemberton Building, at 8 p.m., Thursday, the 15th inst.

Cowichan River Gives Up Gold

DUNCAN, May 13.—There is gold in the river gravel of the Cowichan, in the immediate neighborhood of Duncan. A local resident, who has had considerable experience in mining and engineering in various parts of the world, has been experimenting with a gold pan, and has found the precious metal to be present in larger quantities than he had suspected. This gentleman is of the opinion that if the river and its tributary streams were thoroughly prospected, it is quite possible that gold in paying quantities might be found. Several nuggets of fair size are known to have been recovered years ago from Holt Creek, which flows into the Cowichan two miles above Duncan.

MILK AND POLISH TINS HEAD LIST

CITY ENGINEER MAKES INSPECTION OF WATERFRONT

Claims What He Saw Supports the Theory That Ships Responsible for Most of Debris

City Engineer F. M. Preston sticks by his claim that the garbage which washes up on to the beaches comes principally from vessels, and not from the city's garbage scows. He feels his position strengthened by an investigation which he made yesterday along the waterfront from the breakwater to Finlayson Point, when he discovered three carrots, two turnips and a large number of tin cans. The majority of the cans once held milk, he says, and those which did not hold milk held brass polish. Is it likely, he asks, that milk and brass polish tins would be in the majority if the debris comes from the city scows? He is not convinced that milk and brass polish are the most popular tinned goods on the local market, and he points an accusing finger at the steamers, laying the responsibility for most of the garbage at their doors, or, rather, their ports.

The customary dumping place for the garbage, he points out, is at a spot one mile southwest of the end of the breakwater. In the event of an offshore wind, the contractor has instructions to dump three miles out. Owing to the set of the current, the flood tide is a better time than the ebb for dumping garbage with a view to keeping it off the beaches, says Mr. Preston, who says, however, that the scows must be taken to sea when they are full, and it is not possible to pick and choose the time of dumping.

Nellie Morse Will Start in the Derby, Says Bud Fisher

NEW YORK, May 13.—Nellie Morse, winner of the classic Preakness and $54,000 in yesterday's race at Pimlico, Md., will be a starter next Saturday in the Kentucky Derby, the horse's owner, H. C. (Bud) Fisher, cartoonist-turfman, announced today on his arrival from Europe on the Majestic.

Maybe Not

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—Nellie Morse, Preakness winner, was not nominated for the Kentucky Derby and is ineligible, Matt J. Winn, general manager of the Kentucky Jockey Club, said tonight.

GREAT BRITAIN LEADS IN DAVIS CUP MATCH

Godfrey and Woosnam Win Doubles Match in Straight Sets Over Washer and Watson

TORQUAY, May 13.—Great Britain took the lead in the first round of the Davis Cup contest with Belgium today when L. A. Godfrey and Max Woosnam, the British pair, gained a straight set victory in the doubles over Jean Washer and George Watson. The scores were, 6-4, 9-7, 6-4.

Great Britain now has won two out of three matches and needs but one triumph in the remaining two singles contests to clinch the team victory and earn the right to meet Spain in the second round of the European zone competition. Yesterday A. R. F. Kingscote defeated Watson in the opening singles match, while Washer scored for Belgium by beating J. B. Gilbert.

KUMTUKS TO ENTERTAIN

The Kumtuks Club, at its regular monthly business meeting on Monday night, devoted part of its time to the discussion of plans for the entertainment, on May 24, of business women from Vancouver, Seattle and Bellingham clubs, and it was decided that the programme would include a drive in the afternoon and supper at 7 p.m. at Alexandra House, Courtney Street. The programme which is to follow supper will include musical numbers. The first of the Summer picnic meetings is to be held on Monday, June 9. The Anti-Narcotic League's resolution asking that Judge Emily Murphy be sent by Canada as their representative at the Opium Conference of the League of Nations, met with unanimous support from the club.

Golf and Other Troubles

By BARRIE PAYNE

Cal Coolidge on Golf

I walked into his private office, shook hands with him and took a seat.

"Listen, Cal," I began. "On three or four occasions you've expressed your views on taxation, our foreign policy, and other matters of comparatively small importance. Today I am asking you to outline your position on national issues of really vital consequence. Above everything else, I want your views on golf. But first let me warn you to weigh your words well. Remember that the golfers in this country represent several million votes, and with power to sway millions more."

"——," Mr. Coolidge replied.

"Are you in favor of abolishing the stymie?" I asked.

The President expressed himself as follows:

Then I continued: "And what's your opinion of the one-sixty-two ball? Should a lighter ball be substituted?" The President nodded. At least I thought he did. Then I decided it was just my imagination.

"And now I am ready," I said, "to listen to your views on the steel shaft and the hickory shortage and—beg pardon—did you speak? Did you say something?"

My error. It was his chair. It had emitted a slight squeak.

"May I quote your chair as having said, 'Squeak?'" I asked.

Silence, as per usual. (Probably he traded that chair next day for one more reticent and non-committal.)

"And what is your plan, if any, for placing golf on a more economical basis—for placing it within reach of the masses?"

His plan was this:

"A few clubs," I said, "have been experimenting with cups six inches in diameter. That isn't golf, according to my notion. That's basketball. What do you think? If you remain silent I shall take it for granted that you agree with me and shall quote you accordingly."

"May I quote your chair as having said 'Squeak'?" I asked.

He didn't remain silent. He coughed—which left me in a quandary.

"The tendency today in every business and profession is toward specialization," I went on. "The general practitioner in medicine, for example, is being replaced by throat men, stomach experts, bone specialists, and so forth. Eventually, I think, this will apply to golf. Instead of the one professional who now gives instruction in all departments of the game we shall presently have the 'mashie pro,' who gives instruction in the use of the mashie, the 'brassie pro,' to teach brassie shots, the 'number-two-iron pro,' and so on. Do you agree with me, Mr. Coolidge?"

The President's head seemed to move diagonally—in a motion midway between an affirmative nod and a negative shake. But the motion was so slight that I couldn't be sure even of this.

"Ah, you agree with me," I persisted. "Silence gives consent—does it not? Or does it?"

"——," replied Mr. Coolidge, after which he arose, to signify that the interview was ended.

"Well, Mr. Coolidge," I said, as I shook his hand, "I certainly have enjoyed this. I've had a great time interviewing myself. May I quote myself as saying that you were present at the interview? And may I quote you as saying——?"

"You may quote me," the President broke in, "as saying—— goodbye."

Mrs. Sweeny Retains Vancouver Golf Title, Making Near-Par Score

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Mrs. S. C. Sweeny successfully defended her title as champion woman golfer of Vancouver and district at the Shaughnessy Heights course yesterday afternoon with an 80 for the 18 holes, two strokes over par for women. Mrs. Golletly, with an 88, one stroke better than Mrs. Sweeny's winning score last year, was runner-up.

DUNLOP TIRES

DUNLOP "TRACTION" CORD

When Buying Tires it Will be to Your Advantage to Consult Dunlop Tire Merchants and to Keep in Mind:

1. That we make every type and style of tire which has been evolved for the benefit of motorists:
   —From the world-renowned "Traction" Cord
   —To the Tire that will honestly meet any price competition.
2. That every tire going out of the DUNLOP Factories receives the same painstaking care in the manufacture, irrespective of the price at which it sells.
3. That we stand behind all the different grades of tires bearing the DUNLOP Name.
4. That the thousands of Dunlop Tire Merchants located in every nook and corner throughout Canada—coupled with the official Dunlop Branches in the leading cities—are there to serve you and to see that you get the utmost value for the money you spend for Tires.

DUNLOP "CLIPPER" CORD

What to Buy, and Why

If you desire a tire—the best that can possibly be made, and having a world-wide reputation for efficiency—you will select Dunlop "Traction" Cord, Master of the Road.

If you desire a Cord Tire with a good record, but selling at a lower price than "Traction" Cord, you will decide in favor of Dunlop "Clipper" Cord—a tire that is being chosen by owners of many different makes of cars.

Dunlop "Traction" Fabric

Bus and Truck Heavy Service (30 x 3½) Dunlop "Traction" Cord

Dunlop "Clipper" Fabric

If you prefer the highest-grade Fabric Tire, selling at virtually the same price as "Clipper" Cord, then your choice will be Dunlop "Traction" Fabric.

If it is a competitive price tire you want—but still one that is of recognized value—then you will buy Dunlop "Clipper" Fabric.

If the tire desired is for Livery and Truck purposes—in size 30 x 3½—Dunlop "Bus and Truck Type" tire is "just the thing." It is a specially built pneumatic tire for this particular class of work, having the side-walls fully protected against curb or rut abuse. Other sizes of this type of tire are built heavier than ordinary Passenger Car types.

Every tire referred to above is sold by Dunlop Depots, and there is a price to suit all pockets.

You do not need to purchase tires of doubtful or unknown quality when you can obtain nationally known, sure quality Dunlop Tires to meet every requirement, such as referred to above.

"These Are the Only Tires You Need"

As the tube is a vital part of the casing, it will pay to see that your expenditures for casings are amply protected by the purchase of Dunlop Regular Tubes or Dunlop Extra Heavy Tubes. There are no better tubes made, and, like Dunlop Tires, they are all fairly priced.

The Dunlop name and seal on each and every one of the above-mentioned Tires and Tubes is your protection and a guarantee that no matter what price you may pay, or what grade you may select, you are sure of full value and honest service, backed up by the Dunlop reputation of thirty years' standing.

process of generations, they must lose their feeling for their country. He feared that abolition of the duties would deal a blow to Canada's trade, and, coupled with the Government's action in regard to certain Imperial conference resolutions, make the Dominions less responsive to any idea of reciprocity.

Chancellor Snowden, replying, described Mr. Baldwin's picture of unemployment ironically as touching every one's heart. He went on to show that there were not so many workers in the automobile industry as exaggerated accounts would have people believe—some of these estimates fixing the number as a million men in the British motor industry, which last year produced only 62,000 cars.

The Chancellor scorned the idea that reduced prices had anything to do with protection. He admitted that removal of the tariff was bound to cause dislocation, but asserted that when the watered capital was removed from the trade, and it was put on a sound basis, it would not need protection.

Living Up to Pledges

"We have decided to repeal these duties," continued the Chancellor, "in the first place because we are in honor bound to do so; we are bound to honor the pledges we gave the country; the Government will stand or fall by this resolution: we shall not fail."

William Graham, Central Division of Edinburgh, said that only 25,000 men were employed on cars affected by the duties, and only a portion of them would be affected by the repeal of the duties. The dislocation would be temporary only, and what the Government was doing would lead to industrial efficiency.

"If the British motor car trade cannot compete with the United States trade," he said, "there is something very seriously wrong with it."

The discovery of deposits of ocher and sienna in Australia has given impetus to the paint industry, and materially lessened prices of paint.

VICTORIA ENGINEER DESIGNS NEW VALVE

After Many Experiments, Mr. Sydney Asser Makes Big Improvement by Use of Oscillating Valves

Mr. Sydney Asser, A.M.I.M.E., M.E., D.E., of this city, has invented improvements for the control of scavenging air for all types of internal combustion engines. He achieves his aims by the use of oscillating sleeve valves placed on the outside of the cylinder. Claims for this invention are: Improvements in scavenging air to the extent of 20 per cent over existing methods, and, if necessary, air can be supercharged into cylinder. The valves are at no time subject to the pressures of full compression, or the heat and pressure of initial combustion; an absolute minimum of friction, because the sleeves are at all times cool and efficiently lubricated. Air is absolutely mechanically controlled, it being controlled by the sleeves both to the atmosphere and to the cylinder.

Mr. Asser started his experiments in May, 1919, when he designed and built a small single cylinder engine to run on fuel oil.

The advantages of this engine now that it can be manufactured in small sizes and cheaply, are enormous over the gasoline engine. As an example an average 7-h.p. gasoline engine will cost for fuel 28c an hour to operate, as against 4c per hour for a 7-h.p. Asser type, based on present price of both fuels. Saving is even more marked, of course, when the engines of larger powers are compared, so it can readily be seen that the engine will pay for itself in the first year of operation on the saving in fuel costs alone.

This invention is expected to fill a much needed want for those requiring cheap and efficient power, as well as providing a new industry in the Province. At the present time a company is being formed to manufacture these engines under the name of Asser Diesel Engines, Limited, with temporary offices at 114 Pemberton Building. A manufacturing site, buildings fully equipped with necessary machines, tools, etc., has been secured and will be taken over by the company for a stock consideration.

Mr. T. Howe, in Accepting Conservative Nomination, Retires From Position

VERNON, B.C., May 13.—Mr. T. Howe today resigned as president of the Associated Growers, Limited, and, his resignation being accepted, Mr. E. J. Chambers, Penticton, was elected.

As fruit has been signed up with the association in excess of eighty per cent, it will function for the season of 1924.

The resignation of Mr. Howe follows as the result of his acceptance of the nomination in the Conservative interest for the riding of North Okanagan at the coming election.

At the Playhouses

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE "In Nothing But the Truth," which is holding the boards this week at the Playhouse Theatre, a man makes a bet that he will tell the truth and nothing but the truth for twenty-four hours. The particular man who has to do this is Will Marshall, who claims that he never realized before what a liar he was. Lots of people would get mighty sore if they were told that they tell about thirty per cent lies each day of their lives, but if anyone wants to see it demonstrated they ought to take a trip to the Playhouse and see for themselves. The entire cast works like a charm this week, containing not a single weak spot, and they are to be congratulated on the excellence of their work. "Boston Blackie" is a picture that is causing a great deal of talk, due to its revelations of some of the secrets of prison life today, but it also carries a fine story which is extremely entertaining. The comedy this week is also proving a great drawing card.

ROYAL THEATRE For his first venture into the serious drama, Hal Roach made a production that has universal appeal. He selected Jack London's "The Call of the Wild," the author's most popular story written when he was at the peak of his writing power, and cut loose with a punch that registers. "The Call of the Wild," as it was seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre yesterday, is an entertaining picture that will appeal to everyone who likes a whiff of the open with a tang of the North all through the atmosphere, and especially will it gladden the hearts of animal lovers.

COLUMBIA THEATRE John Gilbert will break the Deauville bank for the last time tonight at the Columbia Theatre, where he has been playing in "Just Off Broadway," his latest screen starring vehicle, from the pens of Frederick and Fanny Hatton. The adventurous Gilbert in this picture essays the role of a secret service man on the trail of a band of international counterfeiters. He not only gets the crooks, but he wins the heart of the girl, Marian Nixon.

CAPITOL THEATRE Ancient Babylon in all prodigal magnificence is one of the settings in Cecil B. De Mille's big Paramount-Artcraft production, "Male and Female," which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. It is a screen adaptation of Sir James M. Barrie's famous play, "The Admirable Crichton." In the course of the story, Crichton, the sublimated butler, dreams of the days "when I was a king in Babylon. . . ," as he sits amid the ruins of a prehistoric court on a desert isle. The dream is shown on the screen, with Gloria Swanson as the gorgeously attired slave girl.

DOMINION THEATRE Patsy Ruth Miller, the charming Esmeralda of Universal's "Hunchback of Notre Dame," which is now playing at the Dominion Theatre, went on the stage for the perfectly good reason that she wanted to. She went to Hollywood right after graduation determined that she was going to break into pictures if she had to stay there for years. She was going to be a stenographer until that time, but by a lucky chance she was picked on her first visit to a studio for an extra role, and did so well that she was kept busy continuously there. She is now a recognized star. Lon Chaney is the star in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," and he is supported by a brilliant cast, including such well-known artists as Patsy Ruth Miller, Gladys Brockwell, Tully Marshall, Nigel de Brulier, Brandon Hurst, J. Cossar, Norman Kerry and Kate Lester.

PUBLICITY GRANT IS CUT BY CITY

Council Lops Off $2,000—Elk Lake Vote Suffers Same Fate—New Work Amounts Cut

The report of the special economy committee, adopted by the City Council on Monday night, showed that the figures of each department had been gone through and there was a lopping off in all directions. The Beacon Hill vote was cut $1,000, that for Stadacona Park $250, that for Pioneer Square $150, that for park band concerts $750, that for the supervision of playgrounds $200, that for Robert Porter Park was eliminated altogether, the amount for macadam trails was reduced by $5,000, that for repairs to wooden sidewalks $2,000, that for road oiling and sanding $2,000, that for Point Ellice Bridge and Mill Street were eliminated, that for Discovery Street was cut $1,500, that for Elk Lake Farm and Park came down from $7,878 to $5,878, and the grant to the Publicity Bureau went down from $20,000 to $18,000, with a conditional grant of another $5,000.

Alderman Woodward, chairman of the Parks Committee, fought against the reduction of the parks estimates, and Alderman Dewar objected to the cutting of the band concert figure. Alderman Todd urged that it paid the city to keep up its parks.

Aldermen Woodward, Dewar and Marchant opposed the cut in the amount for macadam trails as unfair to those taxpayers who had not proper road facilities. The vote on the reduction was 6-5.

Alderman Woodward hammered the expenditure at the Victoria Auto Camp, declaring that such a place should be privately operated and that it was not right to spend money improving that spot for visitors and neglecting the recreation grounds of the citizens.

When Alderman Woodward moved that the wages of the men now getting $3.75 per day be increased to $4.00, there was no discussion, the vote registering 5-6 against the motion. The line-up was as follows: For the motion, Aldermen Woodward, Todd, Dewar, Marchant and Harvey; against, Mayor Hayward and Aldermen Christie, Sargent, Andros, Ker and Sangster.

QUEEN OF SPORT DANCE

The Queen of Sport Dance held on Monday evening at Caledonian Hall, attracted a big crowd, and everyone seemed to enjoy the occasion immensely. The Queen of Sport, Miss May McAllister, was introduced in the course of the evening, and Holt's orchestra furnished a delightful programme of music. Dancing continued until one o'clock.

ANNUAL RECITAL IS DELIGHTFUL EVENT

Big Audience at St. Margaret's School Hears Accomplished Young Pianists and Others

A wealth of promising talent was revealed at the annual concert of St. Margaret's School held last Friday evening in the school auditorium, and the big audience of parents and friends was well justified for the enthusiasm which it displayed in connection with an event which set so high a standard of musicianship and tutorship.

Of the nineteen numbers there was no single item which deserved anything but praise. But quite outstanding performances which call for special notice were Ihrma Haskamp's playing of "Caprice Espagnol," this student exhibiting an advanced and brilliant technique; a very interesting composition which delighted everyone was the "Russian Dance" (Frimi), played by Gertrude Hyndman, who was remarkably successful in keeping the character of the piece; Monica Davies was another of the particularly accomplished students, her abilities having excellent display in the Brahms' "Hungarian Dance," No. 4, the second in her group; and Isabel Munn gave a sympathetic and mature interpretation of Liszt's "Liebestraum."

Very special interest also centered in the trios played by Miss F. Barton, Miss Long and Mr. Balagno, the first trio being "Colonial Song," one of Percy Grainger's beautiful compositions; the second the well-known Arensky "Elegie," which came at the end of the programme and made a delightful conclusion to the programme.

The one violin solo, Mozart "Minuet," was very well executed by Margaret Morrison, and Miss Cussans gave much pleasure and variation to the musical programme by two excellent recitations, one of which was in Indian costume.

Among the artists were: Eileen Russell, Pauline McDonald, Marguerita Thompson, Jean Lindsay, Katherine Pocock, Margaret McKenzie, Nenette Peacock, Simonne Cross, Ruth Moore, Desiree Wolfe.

HEALTH PLAY GIVEN BY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Esquimalt P.-T. Association Holds Successful Concert Under Junior Red Cross Auspices

The Esquimalt Parent-Teachers' Association held a very successful concert at the Lampson Street School on Friday evening. The large auditorium was packed with scholars and friends.

The first item was a health play, "Mrs. Health-Seeker," put on by the pupils, under the direction of Miss Morrison, the school nurse. The Lampson Street School choir, directed by Mr. F. Waddington, contributed three groups of songs, being heartily applauded. During the play several songs were charmingly rendered by Mrs. Harold Campbell.

Mrs. Harold Fleming, director of the Junior Red Cross for British Columbia, addressed the audience on the work of the Junior Red Cross, and mentioned the fact that in a provincial health poster competition the Lampson Street School had won first and second prizes, the first being so highly commended that the National Red Cross office had asked them to enlarge and color it for use at the National Nurses' Exhibition at Hamilton, Ontario. She then presented certificates to the following pupils of No. 2 division: Dorothy Austin, Sydney Barker, Betty Billinghurst, William Campbell, Ruth Cook, Gordon Corless, William Deaville, Carrie Dunn, Muriel Durling, Winnie Elder, Jack Field, Violet Fielding, Tom Flannigan, Hilda Greaves, Gwen Griggs, Ethel Keeler, George Knight, George Leith, Henry McCandless, Edward Newell, Dorothy Rycroft, Clifford Stephens, Flora Thompson, Don Warder, Peggy Williams, Alan Wright, who had taken the Junior Red Cross hygiene and home nursing course conducted by Miss Morrison, Dr. McCallum and Col. Drum.

A very successful evening was brought to a close by a dance.

MR. LOUIS O'BRIEN WINS MORE HONORS

Victorian at California "U" Takes M.A. Degree—Gains $300 Scholarship

MR. LOUIS J. O'BRIEN

Mr. Louis J. O'Brien, one of the Victoria boys attending the University of California at Berkeley, has received additional honors to those that he has already won since entering that institution five years ago. On Saturday he took his Master of Arts degree, and captured his third scholarship at the California "U."

The faculty of the University of California about a month ago endowed a scholarship in honor of Dean Gaylor, veteran professor at the university, which carries with it the sum of $300. Mr. O'Brien, by winning this prize, is the first holder of the Dean Gaylor Scholarship.

Mr. O'Brien, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. O'Brien, 1070 Richmond Avenue, is well known in Victoria, where he received his early education, and his host of friends here will extend congratulations to him upon the notable success that he has achieved in his scholastic career. He attended the Boys' Central School in Victoria, after which he went through the Victoria High School and matriculated with splendid marks.

Another distinct honor that has been conferred upon Mr. O'Brien is the faculty of the university's announcement that he has been made head teaching fellow in the university for the next term.

Exceptional brilliance has been shown by Mr. O'Brien in his studies at Berkeley, and in addition to winning the Dean Gaylor Scholarship of $300, he has during the last two years captured other two scholarships, one carrying with it $500 and another the sum of $250.

Mr. O'Brien will return home to Victoria this Summer to spend the vacation, after which he will return to California, where he will stay for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

MOVE TO ALTER TAX DATE FAILS

An attempt on the part of Alderman Marchant to have the eight per cent penalty imposed on unpaid taxes on October 1 instead of November 1 failed at Monday night's meeting of the City Council. He claimed that a saving of $5,000 in bank interest would result from this earlier collection. Alderman Todd objected that it would hit people who were having great difficulty in paying their taxes. The people who had to pay earlier would personally lose the interest they might have had on their money for the month, and might have to borrow to make the tax payment, said Alderman Andros. Alderman Sargent urged that the present advance payment plan be given whole-hearted support. Alderman Marchant's plan was voted down.

ITS BLACK-TIPPED LACQUER-RED BARREL MAKES DUOFOLD HARD TO LOSE

How we save you $3 on the Duofold

As High as $2500 in Gold Dust Reclaimed from Factory Sweepings

Even Greater Savings Made Through Large Production

PARKER has been shipping up to 10,000 and 12,000 pens a day in Canada and the States. We could sell more if we could make them—indeed the sales seem boundless. But Duofold craftsmanship cannot be turned on in any quantity like water.

Every tip of select Iridium, for example, is skillfully fused in the extra thick gold point by hand. Then it's polished to a jewel-like smoothness, and this is slow—for this tip is the hardest metal known.

Five times every point is inspected by experts. And each pen filled with ink and written with, before we let it pass.

Equal skill, equal care go into other Duofold parts right up to the last loving touch—the handsome ★Gold Girdle that reinforces the cap. This Girdle was $1 extra—now free, due to savings made by large production and efficiency. To reclaim the gold dust, we even wash employes' clothes, and save factory sweepings. Not long ago one rubbish heap yielded us $2,500 in gold.

Yes, Parker Duofold would cost $10 or more if made in ordinary ways and small quantities. You virtually save $3 when you buy it, and get the most economical pen on earth. For we guarantee the point for 25 years—not alone for mechanical perfection—but wear!

No pen is a genuine Duofold unless stamped—"Geo. S. Parker—DUOFOLD—Lucky Curve." Look carefully and avoid deceptions. Good pen counters will sell you this classic on 30 days' approval. Don't miss it.

PRICES IMPROVE ON DULL STOCK MARKET

In Spite of Selling Pressure, Bears Uncover Weak Spots, But Without General Effect

NEW YORK, May 13.—Stock prices showed moderate improvement in today's dull market. While there was an absence of general selling pressure, bear traders succeeded in uncovering a number of weak spots in the rubber, sugar, textile and motor accessory groups selling of which was influenced by unfavorable trade reports.

Most standard industrials improved fractionally. United States Steel common closed ⅜ higher at 96⅛, after having sold as high as 96½. American Can touched 101⅜ and then slipped back to 100⅛, up ⅜. Baldwin closed ⅝ higher at 108⅜. Cuts in tire prices, combined with reports of appraisals showing approximately 7,500,000 tires in the hands of manufacturers and dealers brought fresh selling of the rubbers. Kelly-Springfield eight per cent preferred and Lee Rubber each broke 1½ points.

Sugars Lose Ground

Sugars lost ground on publication of revised estimates of the Cuban crop. Cuba Cane preferred showed a net loss of a point at 56 and the other active issues recorded moderate recessions. Unfavorable dividends rumors inspired the selling of the motor accessories, six of which established new low records for the year.

Other outstanding weak spots included Congoleum, Wilson preferred and Crucible Steel. Marland Oil gained a point in response to a favorable quarterly report and good buying was noted in Colorado Fuel, General Electric, Woolworth and Shell Union Oil, all up a point or more.

In the railroad group most issues moved within narrow and irregular limits.

Call Money

Call money continued to rule at 3½ per cent with plenty of funds available.

Time money and commercial paper markets were quiet with no change in rates.

Foreign exchanges held steady in quiet trading.

Demand sterling ruled slightly higher around $4.36½ and French francs were moderately active just above 5.60 cents.

Bond prices lagged in desultory trading, whose principal feature was heaviness of French, Japanese and Mexican issues, reacting on political developments in these countries. Prices of domestic liens were variable.

French 7½'s lost a point and the new Japanese 6½'s dropped back to near the year's low level.

REVIVAL OF INTEREST IN WHEAT TRADING

Good Demand Develops and Prices Make Comfortable Advance for Day's Trading

(By British-American Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, May 13.—Wheat is in good demand today after the first few minutes' trading, which was at a slight recession from yesterday's finals. Corn was a laggard at the start and did not show much strength until near the close, when it was evident that wheat was retaining its advance. Supplies of wheat seem to be decreasing, but the demand for corn is slow, especially from the East. The late strength in wheat came as a result of the publication of the Illinois State semi-monthly report, which indicated a decided drop in the promised wheat yield for that state. Acreage also was reported as having been reduced considerably. Last sales were near the day's highs and sentiment favored a further advance.

TAX RATE LOWER THAN LAST YEAR

not place improvements in Victoria'."

Properties would revert, whether or not the rate was increased, contended Ald. Marchant. He moved an amendment to the by-law that the percentage remain at 33 1-3, the same as last year.

Outside Effect

Speaking in favor of the increase in the percentage, Ald. Ker claimed that this was necessary if the city was to be placed on a better financial basis. It would tend to stop reversions and it would prevent a four-mill increase, which would adversely affect the city because of the effect on outsiders. If Victoria had never altered from the single tax policy the rate on land this year would be 57 mills, he pointed out.

Ald. Dewar endorsed the statements of Ald. Marchant. He thought the people should be given an opportunity to vote on the matter.

While admitting that an increase of the percentage would bring in an increased amount of taxes, Ald. Andros said that the reason for this would be that the owners of buildings would not let go. "You are asking the owners of improvements to guard the men who haven't had the enterprise to build," he asserted.

Intends to Let Go

The lands of the city had their assessment reduced this year, but the improvements had not, pointed out Ald. Harvey, who said this fact alone would increase the proportion which improvements would pay. He opposed the increase to 50 per cent, said it would not stop reversions, and pointed out that he personally intended letting some vacant lots go.

Defending the increase to 50 per cent, Ald. Sargent said that if vacant land continued to revert, eventually improved lands would have to carry the whole burden and they might as well get used to it. He believed that the increase in the percentage would result in a reduction in reversions. If the city made full use of the powers in regard to taxing improvements, it could not be told, when it went to the Government for more sources of revenue, that it was not taking full advantage of what it had now.

There were houses here on the border line of reversion or slipping into the hands of mortgagees, said Ald. Marchant, and he feared that the increase in the percentage would decide the fate of the properties for the worse. The more money the council got the more way of spending the funds it would find, he declared. He could not understand why those who favored the increase in the percentage had opposed the city collecting a personal property tax, although he did not want to be understood as favoring the latter.

The rate established in the by-law passed through all but its final stage last night was segregated as follows: General purpose, 12.06 mills; debt, 17.87 mills; school, 9.47 mills; total, 39.4 mills.

When the vote on the increase of the taxable percentage of improvements was recorded, Ald. Marchant asked Mayor Hayward which way he voted. He had not done so, but it was well known how he stood on the matter, replied His Worship.

LEGAL BATTLE OVER HEADACHE POWDERS

Mr. Justice Murphy Reserves Judgment as to Right of Only Druggists to Sell Remedy

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice Murphy today upon a point of conflict between the British Columbia Pharmacy Act and the Federal Proprietary and Patent Medicines Act. The constitutionality of the provincial legislation being affected. Mr. J. P. Hogg represented the attorney general.

The circumstances were admitted. Watkins' Headache Powders had been sold by the J. R. Watkins Company to Mr. Robert M. Sheridan and the latter on November 17 sold some of the drugs to a customer in Vancouver.

Prosecution was launched by the Pharmacy Association of British Columbia on the charge that Mr. Sheridan sold acetanilide although he was not a registered licentiate of pharmacy under the Provincial Pharmacy Act.

BREWERS GET BIG SUM THROUGH TRANSACTION WITH B. C. GOVERNMENT

General Manson frankly admitted that they would prefer that the story should not be told. Mr. Manson foresaw that a sinister interpretation would inevitably be put upon the facts, which, he declared, were susceptible of an open and innocent explanation.

Mr. Manson was assured that the story should not be published without his explanation, which was as follows:

"We are today paying $16.50 a barrel for beer; Ontario is paying $17.15; Manitoba is paying approximately $21; Alberta is paying approximately $19.55. Our experience with the brewers has been a continuous fight since the inception of the board's operations in 1921. There are eleven breweries in this Province, and, in my opinion, there are about eight too many for the consumption, which makes it impossible to carry on satisfactorily. This fact has probably been the greatest single factor in the bootlegging of beer, because, outside of two breweries, I am satisfied, even with what bootlegging they have done, the breweries have been running either at a loss or on so narrow a margin of profit as to render the situation entirely unsatisfactory to them.

Brewers Form Combine

"The first act of the brewers on the inception of the board was to form a combine and attempt to fix the price. After considerable worry the board succeeded in breaking the combine, through the instrumentality of one of the breweries. After this the brewers complained bitterly that the price was inadequate, and that we should be paying the sales tax.

"At that time the matter of the sales tax, as well as the duty, was in litigation, and we were on our way to the Privy Council. Mr. Farris, at my request, pressed the Privy Council to decide that the Sales Tax Act did not apply to the Provincial Crown. The Privy Council, however, in its judgment, confined itself to the question of duty, and I knew then that we were faced with a reconsideration of the price.

"In fact, before the decision was given last July, the brewers formed another combine, which they thought was airtight. I absolutely refused to accept their price, and what amounted to almost an impasse resulted. Finally, after a month or two of dickering, I compromised slightly and was able to break the combine through one of the breweries. Peace did not yet prevail, and the situation was so unsatisfactory that I seriously considered taking over the operation of the breweries, and drafted agreements to that effect.

Insist on New Price

"The brewers then got together and formed the Amalgamated Breweries Association. This seemed to give promise of better conditions, except that the matter of price was still in contention. As the session was just about to open I told the brewers that I could not possibly go into the question of price until after the session closed. In the spare moments I was able to get when pressed with the past session and Royal Commission work, I had various discussions with them, mostly through our purchasing agent. The brewers were very insistent that the new prices should prevail from January 1. I was unable to arrive at an agreement with them for some time.

"Finally, however, we agreed on the price of $16.50 as from March 1. This was a dollar less than the brewers demanded. I am not sure how long they will remain satisfied, as they are very restive under the condition that the other provinces are paying so much higher a price, and after the election is over it is quite possible that the whole situation may have to be gone into again, as I am still convinced that the volume of beer consumption in this Province is not sufficient for eleven breweries to operate on a satisfactory basis.

Uncertain About Election

"That the price had nothing to do with the election I think will be easily seen. At the time that the price was finally settled upon, after months of negotiations, it was not certain whether the election would be in June or in the Fall; in fact, the possibility of another session prior to an election was at that time discussed.

"It is difficult to prevent sinister rumors, and one gets so many of them in public life that one gets heartily sick of public service, but, in face of the foregoing facts, it is difficult to see on what anyone would base any suggestion of improper relations. One cannot help but conclude that the brewers have not been altogether satisfied with their treatment at my hands, although I have done what I considered fair and reasonable under all the circumstances."

BEST HARBOR IN ORIENT AT KOBE

SPEND THIRTY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS ON FACILITIES

Build Breakwater Over Twenty Thousand Feet Long—Arizona Creates New Record

The completion of the present nine-year building programme will give Kobe the best harbor of any seaport in the Far East at a cost of $30,000,000, it was learned when the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Arizona Maru docked from Japan at the Rithet Consolidated piers.

The harbor will be enclosed by a huge breakwater 21,546 feet in length comprising five sections with two main entrances, each 500 feet wide, and two smaller entrances each 300 feet wide. About a mile and a half of the mole has already been completed.

The present area of the harbor will be nearly doubled by the plans now being transmitted into actuality.

Three piers now being used exclusively by foreign vessels will be augmented by an additional four for that purpose. Reclamation work and quays now under construction for the use of steamers in domestic trade will cost about $4,500,000.

The city of Kobe is sharing the expense of the construction with the Imperial Government and, besides, has agreed to expend $5,000,000 for railways and warehouses on the new quays.

Speed Record

The Arizona created a new speed record for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha fleet when she arrived yesterday exactly thirty hours ahead of schedule. She averaged 14.2 knots an hour on the voyage from Yokohama.

The liner discharged thirty-three tons of cargo before sailing for Seattle at noon.

AMERICAN NAVY IS RANKED AS SECOND

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The American navy ranks second among the navies of the world, instead of being on an equality with Great Britain as contemplated in the 5-5-3 naval treaty evolved by the Washington arms conference.

This was officially admitted in a letter written by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt to Representative Butler, chairman of the house naval committee, made public tonight.

Instead of the 5-5-3 ratio established by the arms conference, the American navy has now deteriorated to the point where it is five for Great Britain, four for the United States and three for Japan.

This represents "approximate strength," according to Roosevelt's report.

FISH TRAPPERS GET WHALE CALF AFTER STRUGGLE

ANACORTES, May 12.—Scarcely a fishing season passes but some trap is damaged or destroyed by blackfish that follow the leads into the trap, but Saturday for the first time in Puget Sound a sperm whale calf was caught in the Draper & Hunt trap at Burrows Bay.

The calf was but twenty-eight feet long. It badly damaged the pot of the trap before it was killed with a rifle. It was with difficulty that it was removed from the trap. It now lies on the beach near the E. K. Wood mill.

Old whalers say it is a yearling calf, and undoubtedly a sperm whale, the baleen in its mouth being perfect. The baleen is a horny, bone-like substance which forms a sieve along the roof of the mouth of the sperm whale to collect and retain food.

JAPANESE RUSHING TO UNITED STATES

STRIVE TO ENTER BEFORE EXCLUSION BAN IS ON

Five Thousand Have Already Booked Passages—Toyo Kisen Kaisha Needs Special Ship

TOKIO, May 13.—A canvass of the steamship offices shows that at least 5,000 Japanese have booked passage and will sail to the United States before July, at which time the exclusion law is expected to go into effect. The Toyo Kisen Kaisha alone has booked nearly 4,000 Japanese passengers for America, and may send the liner Korea Maru on a special trip with 800 more.

The smaller steamship companies are also booking several hundred more Japanese passengers, while the American lines are receiving hundreds of applications for steerage passage from Japan.

The few hotels of Yokohama rebuilt since the earthquake are crowded with Japanese residents of America temporarily in this country and anxious to return before July 1, according to the vernacular newspapers.

The liner President Wilson, due tomorrow at Yokohama from San Francisco, has 400 Japanese men from the Pacific Coast. These expect to obtain brides and return to America before July 1. It is a question how many of them will be able to obtain return passage.

CHINA IS DENUDED OF REAL ANTIQUES

MR. S. SANDERS RETURNS FROM TRIP TO ORIENT

Proprietor of Persian Art Store Declares Chinese Now Imitating Old Works of Art

"China is almost stripped bare of genuine antiques and objects d' art, and the time is not far off when there will be none available at all," said Mr. S. Sanders, of the Persian Art Store, who returned from a four months' tour of China and Japan yesterday as a passenger on the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Iyo Maru.

Tourists and collectors have so denuded the country of antiques and works of art that the Chinese are now trying to make imitations in emulation of the Japanese, Mr. Sanders told The Colonist. As yet the Chinese have not achieved the cleverness of the Japanese at the business of faking, Mr. Sanders said.

Old-fashioned bronzeware and inlaid porcelain have practically disappeared, he stated. The only Japanese prints available for the collector now are imitations, he said.

Mr. Sanders said the fabled honesty of the Chinese in business dealings no longer has a basis in reality. He then observed that they are probably learning questionable methods from occidental businessmen.

Political conditions in China are most unsettled, Mr. Sanders declared. Banditry and lawlessness of all kinds is rife, he said, in all sections of the country.

Mr. Sanders stated that the Chinese are today manifesting animosity against all white people. They wish, he said, to be freed from all interference in the management of their affairs. The collecting of their maritime customs by foreign nations who secure payment of the Boxer indemnity and of interest on certain bonds from the customs receipts, is a cause of great discontent to the natives, he observed. The Chinese, he stated, wish to control the customs themselves. But, he said, they should not be allowed to do so because they would probably make no attempt to allocate any portion of the funds to payment of the indemnity or of the interest on the bonds.

Japanese feeling against Americans as a result of the Exclusion Bill passing Congress, he had found to be very strong when he visited Japan, Mr. Sanders said. All day long people could be seen gathered in groups at the street corners discussing the question with marked agitation, he declared. Conversation in railroad trains, he said, was devoted to the same topic exclusively and maintained with the same intense feeling.

Mr. Sanders was accompanied on the trip by his daughter, Zovart.

The Iyo discharged about ninety tons of cargo here before sailing for Seattle at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Twenty-two passengers disembarked here.

CLINGS TO BOAT FOR THREE DAYS DEFYING SHARKS

SYDNEY, Australia, May 13.—Clinging to a small boat, which sprang aleak on a voyage to Sydney from the pearling grounds in the north, Marshall Dempster, Irish sailor and adventurer, one time wrecked off the Alaskan coast in the barque Northern Light, defied a school of sharks that circled round him for three days and finally got ashore naked at Byron Bay, in this state.

He called to a boy on horseback to help him when he landed but the boy fled frightened, for Dempster was covered with blood from cuts he got scrambling up the rocks where his boat grounded. Finally he was taken to hospital. He has been five times wrecked.

The Time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish High Water from Low Water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The Height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lower Low Water. Esquimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill of the drydock at any time, add 18.9 feet to the height of High Water as above given.

CHINESE GIRLS NOW BOB LOCKS

OCCIDENTAL CUSTOM ATTRACTS GIRLS OF ORIENT

Miss Hilda Beatrix Komor Journeys From Hong Kong to Become a Doctor of Medicine

It is evident, from a statement of Miss Hilda Beatrix Komor, who arrived from Hong Kong yesterday afternoon on the Iyo Maru, that the custom of bobbed hair has penetrated even to China. Miss Komor told The Colonist that she had seen five or six Chinese girls of the better classes in Hong Kong with bobbed hair. She said that they were students in a convent there.

Miss Komor was born of Hungarian parents in Yokohama. Apart from residence in Austria and Hungary during the war, she has lived in the Far East all her life.

She said that she was traveling to Kansas City to study medicine. When she became a doctor she would not return to practice in the Orient, she declared, because she had lived there too long to have any illusions about its dirt and its squalor. The glamor and romance of China entranced the tourist, she said, but failed to charm the permanent resident, because to him became apparent in time a pervasive unsanitariness which obtruded itself everywhere through the mask of picturesqueness.

Prominent amongst the Iyo's passengers was Mr. Claude E. White, an American engineer from Hong Kong, traveling with his wife and child to Kansas City.

Mr. Tajori Miyata, an official of the Department of Agriculture of the Japanese Government, arrived on the Iyo en route to Europe, where he will study latest advances in the science of agriculture.

CRIPPLED VESSEL IS TOWED TO PORT

BOILER TROUBLES HALT VOYAGE OF FREIGHTER SATSUMA

Anchors at Sharringham Point Before Being Towed to Esquimalt by Nitinat and Tees

Crippled by boiler trouble, the Barber Steamship Company's vessel Satsuma, en route from Shanghai to New York via Union Bay, was towed into Esquimalt yesterday morning by the C. P. R. tugboat Nitinat, under charter to the Pacific Salvage Company, assisted by the Tees, of the same company.

The Satsuma had been anchored at Sharringham Point since Monday at noon. Captain Jones, commander of the vessel, was brought into William Head by the quarantine tender Madge. From the station he made arrangements for the rescue of his ship. The Nitinat was dispatched to her aid at 6 o'clock on Monday evening. The Tees met her with the Satsuma in tow at Race Rocks and assisted her with the pull to Esquimalt.

A survey of the damage to the Satsuma will be made this morning.

The Satsuma is a vessel of 5,287 gross tons. She is 370.3 feet long, 48 feet in beam, and has a depth of 19 feet. She was built at Sunderland, England, in 1901.

AUGVALD TRIAL TO OPEN HERE MONDAY

Case Arising Out of Collision Between Norwegian Freighter and Steel Scientist to Be Heard

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Admiralty court, Mr. Justice Martin presiding, convened in Vancouver today, when several cases were spoken to and trials arranged.

May 19 has been tentatively selected as the date for the trial in Victoria of Wrangell & Company, owners of the Norwegian steamship Augvald, vs. steamship Steel Scientist. The action is one in which $16,000 damages are claimed from the Steel Scientist following collision about six months ago in Vancouver harbor with the Augvald. Mr. Martin Griffin is counsel for the Augvald, and Mr. E. C. Mayers for the Steel Scientist.

Absence of Captain Baxter Wells, of the steam tug Takara Maru, prevented the trial resuming today of the Harbor Navigation Company, owners of the gasboat Enilda, vs. the Dutch motorship Dinteldyk. The captain witnessed the collision between the two vessels, which occurred some months ago on the Vancouver waterfront when the Dinteldyk was changing berths.

An attempt will be made to secure the attendance of Captain Wells within the next week, and, failing in that, the trial in all probability will be heard in June.

Trial of the gasboat Paschena vs. the scow Griff will open towards the end of June or the early part of July. The Paschena claims $20,000 salvage for rescuing the Griff, laden with coal, off Whitecliffe Island, near Prince Rupert, in February last. The barge had been in tow of the steamer Amur, which was wrecked and subsequently saved by the Paschena, which also took in tow the Griff, then drifting out to sea. A salvage claim by the Paschena against the Amur has been settled by payment.

Another case on the list was that of the British Columbia Telephone Company vs. steamship Arabian, which involves a claim for damage to the company's cable crossing Burrard Inlet. The accident occurred some months ago. The trial date is to be arranged.

In the case of Evans, Coleman and Evans, Ltd., vs. steamship Roman Prince, Mr. Justice Martin, who had previously awarded the company damages for damage to its wharf, caused through the Roman Prince colliding with it, decided that the successful plaintiff was entitled to most of the costs. He allowed the Roman Prince to set off costs which the company had incurred through amending its claims.

VETERAN BUILDER LANDS CONTRACT

WILL BUILD ALOUETTE-STAVE TUNNEL IN 200 DAYS

British Columbia Electric Railway Company Awards Big Job to Mr. Olaf Olson

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Contract was let today by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company for its Alouette-Stave tunnel to Olaf Olson, of Maple Valley, Wash., for $331,600, according to W. G. Murrin, vice-president of the company. This is the 3,400-foot tunnel which is to connect Alouette and Stave Lakes and increase the hydro-electric development both at the mouth of the tunnel and at the present Stave Falls plant. Mr. Olsen is a veteran tunnel builder. He drove the tunnels on the main line of the C.P.R.

Associated with Mr. Olson are his four sons, who comprise his organization. He is well known in Seattle, being a director of the City Bank there.

Work on the Stave Lake end of the tunnel will be under way within six weeks. It is a rush job, having to be finished in 200 days, with a penalty or bonus for exceeding or cutting down the time.

PRESIDENT BEATTY TO JOIN SHIP HERE

Will Board Empress of Canada at Victoria to Make Last Leg of Round-the-World Trip

WINNIPEG, May 13. — E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, this evening concluded his annual visit of inspection here and leaves early tomorrow morning for a tour of the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia. He is scheduled to arrive at Saskatoon at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow, and will leave that city for Edmonton early on Thursday morning, where he will arrive at 6:10 that night. Friday morning he will go on to Calgary, arriving there at 11:55 a.m., and will leave early on Saturday for Lethbridge, where a short stop will be made.

The remainder of the trip to the Coast will be via the Crow's Nest, Cranbrook, Spokane, Nelson and Penticton, to Vancouver and Victoria. At the latter port Mr. Beatty will meet the Empress of Canada on her return from the round-the-world cruise, and will return with that ship to Vancouver.

Mr. Beatty is accompanied by Sir Herbert Holt and F. W. Molson, Canadian Pacific directors, and by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western lines.

SERGEANT HARVEY LED FLIERS' FORLORN HOPE

Companion of Major Martin Relates Experiences From Time Aeroplane in Dense Fog Crashed Against Mountainside on Alaskan Peninsula Until Last Staggering March to Beach Near Port Moller When Cannery Buildings Are Sighted

Thought of Mother Was Uppermost in His Mind

(Copyright North American Newspaper Alliance, 1924, in Great Britain, United States and South America.)

PORT MOLLER, Alaska, May 13.—Harvey, a six-foot, well-built man, age twenty-three years, with light brown hair, light brown eyes, fine looking, and his mother is Mrs. Al Harvey, 618 West Heard Street, Cleborne, Texas. As Major Martin states, an exceptionally brave man, with a wonderful willpower to keep plodding along under circumstances that would daunt the strongest. With the thoughts of his mother uppermost in his mind in the blackest moments he knew, forging ahead, determined to live for his mother's sake, if nothing else. As sergeant said, he did not have her, he might not have fought so hard.

The following is Sergeant Harvey's story of the trip:

Left Chignik at about 11 a.m. on April 30. Weather reports were fairly good. After an hour's flight went fog seemed to drop around us, cutting off all vision of earth and water, making it impossible to distinguish anything. Flew for next 30 minutes by compass and instruments. Crashed into the mountain at 12:30 p.m. It seemed to me where the wings and centre section of the machine closed in that it had got Major Martin, but immediately he seemed to be interested in my condition. Both raised from the cockpit and asked about each other's condition. Neither hurt.

Started South

After looking over the ship a few minutes we got a few personal things from the ship and, thinking we were near the Pacific Coast, we started south at 2 p.m. April 30, not realizing the serious condition we were in. We walked three hours, unable to see anything at all, and by using our compass we decided we were not getting towards the coast, but walking in circles, so decided to return to the ship.

We built a small fire out of some of the broken spruce and parts of pontoons, and chipped large pieces of ice out of the side of the mountain to make a windbreak on the northwest side of the ship, there being a strong northwest wind blowing and very cold, with snow flurries. About 1 a.m. decided to put on flying equipment and get some sleep. We crawled into baggage compartment, but unable to sleep on account of cold. Got up next morning at 3 a.m. after a night of sleeplessness. Built fire and melted snow for water to drink, intending to start towards the coast at daybreak, but impossible on account of heavy fog, so spent that day and night at ship. On morning of May 2 fog still as bad as ever. We decided to start out at 5 a.m. and walked south for three hours, crossed small stream, continuing on up the mountain until impossible to get farther, so we returned back to the stream and followed it westward until night.

Camped on Alders

Camped on alders on the snow without sleeping that night, and next morning we were afraid to continue northwest, so decided to retrace our steps to the plane. Being snowblind myself and unable to see where to walk, I had to follow the major in making the return trip. This was very hard, but reached the ship after eight and a half hours' hard walking, both being completely exhausted. When we reached the ship we rested before building a fire. Built fire, inspected the first aid kit, found some boracic acid for our eyes, and then retired for the night, spending a very uncomfortable night in the ship.

We got up early next morning, May 4, after a short talk of our situation, decided to start for the coast, this time not to return, whether we could make it or not. Climbed up mountain about seven hours southeasterly until impossible to go further. For the first time the sun began to shine a little, and by using the field glasses we located a small lake which we determined to be about ten miles southwest. Decided to make it by night, but having to go around mountains we were forced to camp three miles from the lake on account of darkness.

Again Camp in Alders

Made camp in alders, four feet of snow; cut small limbs from brush to protect us from the snow and gathered what wood we could, which was very little, and made a fire. Did not suffer very much from cold that night, but were fearful of bears, as there were many tracks of them.

Next morning at 4:30, May 5, continued towards the lake, and reached it about noon, but no sign of inhabitants was seen, and by this time the Major's eyes were in bad condition, and the course was left for me to pick. He could only follow. We traveled south, then over a very rugged country until night. Made camp that night in a canyon. We worried very much that night, as we didn't think we could get over the mountains, but always determined, we continued on at 5 a.m. May 6. We had been climbing mountains all forenoon, and by noon we saw a pass through the mountains to the southwest. Snow was very deep and we were compelled to crawl the biggest part of the time. We got through the pass by the middle of the afternoon and followed a valley until both were unable to go any farther; then after a few minutes' rest we began to gather some wood for our camp. There was very little wood and a cold north wind was blowing and snow and rain continued all night. We suffered very much from the cold, so were up and going at first break of day.

Reached Beach

Reaching the beach about 8:30 on May 7 we saw the first sign of human life—a man's track in the snow. We followed the beach around in search of a cabin and found it about 9 a.m.; a deserted cabin, but after examining it we found very little food and one small bed, a stove and some wood which looked very good to us. Cooked hotcakes made of flour and condensed water.

Slept most afternoon, got up and cooked more hotcakes, went back to bed. Did not attempt to leave cabin next day or night on account of rain and snow. On morning of May 9 took our compass and field glasses and walked several miles up the beach trying to determine where we were on the coast, but failed on account of fog and clouds, so returned to cabin and cooked lunch, and by 3 o'clock in the afternoon fog lifted so the major consented to let me go up the coast alone to determine our position, his eyes still being bad.

I walked about six miles and after a thorough examination of the coastline I decided we were on Moller Bay. Naturally, we had taken an early start for Fort Moller the following morning. Left cabin at 7:40 a.m. May 10, following the coastline northwest, after walking about twenty-five miles we saw Port Moller Cannery first at 3:45 p.m., which ended our suspense. We had been in for twelve days, but had not given up hopes for one minute, having the pleasure of a ride. The last four miles by boat to the cannery arriving there at 6 p.m., May 10, where everyone was as pleased as we were that we were safe.

FAN TAN ALLEY IS RAIDED BY POLICE

THIRTY-EIGHT CHINAMEN ARRESTED IN CLUBROOM

Officers Are Forced to Batter Way Through Heavy Doors With Steel Sledges

Ong gow games and other mysterious Oriental gambling games were flourishing industriously in Fan Tan Alley last night when a police squad, led by Sergeant Heatley and Acting-Sergeant Harper swooped down upon the gamesters and thirty-eight were corralled in a big room of the Chinese Social Club on the second floor of a building on the west side of the alley. They were granted bail amounting to $50 each and will appear in police court this morning charged with frequenting a gaming house.

The raid was planned with a good deal of care and exits from the room were guarded before the sergeant and a number of constables appeared at the front. Constable Walton and Driver Strong broke the glass out of a window on the second floor, which they reached by climbing a ladder, and got into the room about the same time as the squad working at the front of the building, where it was necessary to beat down two doors with axes and steel sledges.

While the police were working at the doors six of the trapped inmates tore up their shirts and wrapped them around their waists to form aprons.

"Me cook, me cook," each one said when the officers got into the room. They had discovered in a previous raid that the two cooks of the establishment had not been arrested. But it was a case of too many cooks spoiling the game, and all were gathered in.

Man of Many Pockets

One man, a lanky Chinaman named Fook Jun, when searched by the department's expert "frisker," Acting-Sergeant W. Harper, produced from his innumerable pockets enough material to fill a trunk. He wore two sweater coats, two vests and two pairs of pants, and each pocket was crammed with a heterogeneous assortment of articles mixed with silver coins. Every pocket produced at least thirty cents in five and ten-cent pieces and coppers. He had forty-two notebooks of various sizes, about half a pound each of loose matches and toothpicks, three pipes, two packages of tobacco and a half-dozen loose cigarettes, fourteen packets of sticking plaster, seventeen postcards, six handkerchiefs, one box of shoe polish, a nail file and hair comb, three pocketbooks, some shredded wheat posters, thirty pencils and two fountain pens, a dozen wire nails and some screws, a lot of buttons of various sizes, a gold watch and chain, a packet of insect powder, nearly three dozen rubber bands, about twenty yards of string, safety pins, shoe laces, about four pounds of folded papers and nearly two two dozen keys. Besides he had about twenty dollars, mostly in small change.

Asked why he kept his money scattered all over his clothes, he said that he rode a lot on the street cars and he put money in every pocket, so that no matter in which he put his hand he was bound to find enough for fare.

A considerable quantity of gambling paraphernalia was taken in the raid, but no money. Those who took part were Sergeant Heatley and Acting-Sergeant Harper, Constables Foster, Jarvis, Acreman, Detective Caldwell and Driver Strong.

Steel Mills Close

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 13.—With the exception of the horseshoe plant, the Schoenberger mill of the American Steel & Wire Company here suspended operations today. Twelve hundred employees were laid off for an indefinite period. Lack of orders, company officials said, caused the suspension.

ELK LAKE AGAIN BEFORE COUNCIL

ALDERMAN TODD DEMANDS CONFIDENCE VOTE

Unanimously Appointed Head of New Elk Lake Committee— Clashes With Alderman Sargent

In view of the small amount to be spent at Elk Lake Park this year, the City Council last night decided that it would be unnecessary to have all its members compose the Elk Lake Committee and so transferred jurisdiction over the park expenditures to the Victoria members of the Victoria-Saanich Beaches, and Parks Committee, who were given authority to have the Saanich members of the committee sit with them as a matter of courtesy.

This step was taken on the recommendation of Ald. Todd, sponsor of the Elk Lake development and chairman of the Elk Lake Committee, which had consisted of the whole Council. Ald. Todd deplored the cut in the Elk Lake estimates this year, and demanded an expression of opinion from his colleagues as to whether they wished him to continue to head the work. The opportunity to express itself was given the Council on a motion appointing Ald. Todd chairman of the new Elk Lake Committee, and not a dissenting voice was heard.

Discussion over Elk Lake brought a clash between Aldermen Todd and Sargent, when the former accused the latter of interfering with other people's business and of not telling the truth. This brought an indignant rejoinder from Ald. Sargent, who informed the Mayor that he ought to stop talk of that sort.

The Elk Lake question came up when the following letter from Ald. Todd was read:

Deplores Cut

"I am of the opinion that the sum of $5,878 in the amended estimates is not sufficient to bring the Elk Lake project to a proper state of advancement this year. It, therefore, seems advisable for the Council to appoint, as chairman of the committee, some individual who thinks the funds sufficient. As the Council wishes, I will either carry on or make way for someone else.

"In view, too, of the limited finances now available, it seems an absurdity that the whole Council should continue as the committee, and I would recommend that it be reduced to the city members of the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee, and authority be given to invite the Saanich members of the said joint committee to participate in Elk Lake meetings.

"Not only as a member of the City Council, but as a heavy taxpayer, I keenly regret that what I consider the short-sighted policy of this year's City Council is likely to postpone the assistance in bearing taxation burdens which would be brought about by a more reasonable productive expenditure at Elk Lake."

Too Much Delay

Ald. Todd told the Council that the work at Elk Lake had already been held up too long this year, and he moved a resolution embodying his recommendation in regard to the Elk Lake Committee. The Victoria members on the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks committee are Aldermen Todd, Sangster and Ker.

Ald. Sargent said that the complaint in the past had been that it was not known what was going on in connection with Elk Lake. He objected to the plan to bar some of the members of the City Council and invite into conference members of an outside council.

"It is rather embarrassing when someone meets you on the street and asks you what is going on at Elk Lake to tell him to ask Todd or Sangster," observed Ald. Andros.

"Will they find out then?" smiled Ald. Marchant.

"No," said Ald. Andros, who went on to relate how, while work was supposed to be at a standstill at the lake, he had seen a man working on the construction of the roadway into the site where an unknown company was to build a hotel.

This was the caretaker, he was informed, whereupon he suggested that this man be employed on some work for the public and not for the mysterious company.

Ald. Dewar agreed with the Todd plan but wanted the Council kept fully informed.

All the work that had been done last year at the lake had been authorized, said Ald. Todd.

Ald. Sargent wanted all reference to Saanich representatives left out of the resolution, as it was an insult to the members of the Council not included on the committee.

A Sharp Exchange

"The trouble with you is, Ald. Sargent, that you are not satisfied to mind your own business but must mind other people's also," retorted Ald. Todd, who denied the statement of Ald. Sargent that he was responsible for the only trouble the latter could remember between the city and Saanich.

"Ald. Woodward told you some truths and I did, too, at the Chamber of Commerce," went on Ald. Todd.

"Yes. You get behind a man's back," countered Ald. Sargent.

"I told you to your face you were not telling the truth," came back Ald. Todd.

Ald. Sargent protested to the Mayor against the statements of Alderman Todd. A move to adjourn failed.

Alderman Marchant objected to the proposal to have Saanich men take part in the committee meetings. Whether they had a vote or not, he contended, the principle was wrong. The need of full information on the subject of Elk Lake in future was stressed by him.

Alderman Sargent rose and suggested that there should be courtesy among members of the Council. Alderman Todd had got up at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce to which the Council was invited and had said that he was not telling the truth, and Alderman Woodward had said the same thing on Monday night. He reiterated that he could remember no dispute with Saanich but one brought on by Alderman Todd.

When the vote was taken on the Todd proposal, it was: For, Mayor Hayward and Aldermen Todd, Sangster, Ker, Dewar and Harvey; against, Aldermen Marchant, Sargent, Christie and Andros.

Alderman Todd complained that he had not been given proper support by his colleagues, and asked for a vote as to whether they wanted him to continue at the head of the work.

A motion appointing him chairman of the new Elk Lake committee was then passed unanimously.
